MILLIONS GONE,

And the Country to Get No Benefit.

Porter's Census an Unadulterated Fraud,

Made by Partisans for Political Purposes.

Wm. Dudley Foulke Talks Plainly on the Subject.

What the Committee of the National Civil Service Reform League Has Found in the Course of Its Investigations.

New York, Sept. 26.—The Herald says: The report of the special committee appointed by the national civil service reform league to inquire into the taking of the New York census is completed. Wm. Dudley Foulke, chairman of the committee, was asked last night as to the result of the committees work. Mr. Foulke would not go into details of the report in advance of its presentation to the executive committee at the annual meeting of the league next week, but he told more than enough to justify the belief that it will arraign Mr. Porter and his work in very emphatic terms. He remarked however:

"I will say that if the president had been willing at the start to have put the census bureau under civil service rules, he would have entirely disarmed the criticism which has been freely made of the census—that it was conducted upon partisan principles and for political purposes.

"The civil service sommissioners wanted him to do this, but Porter objected and it was not done.

"The great bulk of the clerks, supervisors and enumerators in the bureau were republicans, and were put there for political reasons.

"Naturally the party excluded from part in this enumeration will complain. For if it were entirely fair why should not the men who took the census be put in without regard to party?

"I am a republican, but I see no reason why that party should monopolize the taking of an enumeration of the inhabitants of this country, any more than why they should monopolize the banking business.

"If they insist on doing all the work themselves it will naturally be inferred that there is a party reason for it.

TELEPHONE TO EUROPE.

Mr. John W. Mackay Considering the Question of a Cable.

Boston, Sept. 26.—Mr. Gorham Gray, inventor of a wire for long-distance telephones, speaking of the possibility of a line to Europe, said to-day: "A plan is under consideration for laying such cables and the subject is now before that far-seeing and enterprising gentleman, Mr. John W. Mackay."

A TINY TOPER'S DEATH.

A Child Drinks a Pint of Whisky.

Medical Aid Could Not Save Him and He Died From Alcoholic Poisoning.

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—"Me boy drunk a pint of whisky and I'm afraid he'll die," cried Mrs. Mary Slavin as she rushed into Cooper hospital yesterday morning.

Doctors Farrar and Schofield began work on the unconscious child, who was but 3 1-2 years old, and succeeded in pumping a full pint of whisky from his stomach. They stuck to him all day endeavoring to counteract the poison, but the boy died early in the evening from the effects of his fearful dose.

The tiny toper was the youngest child of John Slavin, a laborer, living at No. 18 South Eighth street. Mrs. Slavin went out temporarily yesterday morning, leaving Eddie on the floor of a bed-room. When she returned an hour and a half later Mrs. Slavin found the child lying unconscious beside an empty quart bottle, which had stood on the floor.

She thinks that about a pint of the liquor had been left in the bottle. She used some for her boy's earache on Tuesday night. He had swallowed all that remained.

Dr. Farrar said last night that the whisky had been on the boy's stomach an hour and a half before his arrival at the hospital, and that death was due to alcoholic poisoning. Deputy County Physician Leavitt was notified and will make an investigation.

ROOSEVELT'S HEAD MAY DROP.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Pressure is being brought to bear upon President Harrison to remove Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt. President Lyman, of the commission, it is said, has already been marked for dismissal. These reformers are too ardent to suit the Harrison idea.

ALLIANCE GETS A BLACK EYE.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 26.—The alliance resolutions adopted at the state convention last winter were introduced in the state legislature for approval, but were defeated by a vote of 81 to 63. This was a stunning blow to the third party in this state.

THEATER BURNED.

London, Sept. 26.—A Liverpool dispatch states that the Gaiety theater in that city was burned this morning. The first alarm was sounded at 8 a. m. and two hours later but the bare walls and iron columns of the building were left standing.

WATER SUPPLY SHORT.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 26.—The water in the rivers in Chesire county has become so low that many of the mills can only run about half time. Many of the springs in the vicinity are quite dry.

SENTENCE COMMUTED.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 26.—Gov. Buchanan on Tuesday last commuted the sentence to life-imprisonment of Andrew Jackson, who was to have been hanged to-day.

FROM BLAINE TO HARRISON.

Senator Pettigrew's Jump Quoted as as Significant.

New York, Sept. 26.—The Washington correspondent of the Mail and Express (Harrison organ) says that it is plain that the men, especially those in the west and northwest, who saw and knew only Blaine in the coming campaign now have an inkling of the fact that Mr. Blaine will decline to be a candidate, and are preparing for it. The correspondent adds:

"The most conspicuous example of this is Senator Pettigrew. Last week he came out in a carefully prepared interview in Chicago, praising President Harrison, giving him credit for the vigorous foreign policy of this administration, and saying he alone would be the candidate. This interview was carefully clipped out and sent to the president by the Dakota senator.

"The significant part of the whole business is that Mr. Pettigrew has been hitherto a rampant Blaine man. He was the leader in the first meeting of west and northwest senators in New York last spring, when they convened to protest against the nomination of Harrison and select some one to beat him. Then it was that they selected Blaine and began his boom, and Pettigrew started in the van."

SAVED FROM RUIN.

Houston, Tex., Sept. 26.—Six young girls who were brought here from New York to perform at variety shows, left for Galveston to-night under the charge of the chief of police, where they will take the steamer and return home. The girls claim they were deceived about the character of the places and the business they were expected to do.

FELL TO HIS DEATH.

COMMERCIAL FREEDOM.

Canada Trying to Break Her Bonds.

An Address to the Queen Adopted Unanimously.

All Government Business at Montreal Suspended Owing to the Differences Between Angers and Mercier.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 26.—In the senate yesterday Premier Abbott moved the adoption of the address to her majesty, claiming the right to greater commercial freedom, and asking for the denunciation of the most favored nation clauses in the British treaties with the German zollverein and Belgium, so far as they affect Canada.

In his speech, Mr. Abbott spoke of the possibility of England sacrificing the principle of free trade, in view of the fact that of all nations in the world she stood alone on such a platform.

R. W. Scott, leader of the opposition, approved of the address, but wished it had gone further, and asked that hereafter Canada should make her own commercial treaties. The address was passed unanimously.

Alarm at Montreal.

Montreal, Sept. 26.—All the government business has been suspended on account of the breach between Lieut.-Gov. Angers and Premier Mercier, and the political affairs in the province are fast approaching a crisis.

It is more than probable that serious trouble will ensue.

The French papers are inflaming the people with vehement denunciations.

They declare that the pressure from Ottawa to force Mercier out of the political field will be resented and the threats of annexation to the United States that are heard on all sides show in what direction they will seek to offset Angers.

TROUBLE IN NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, Sept. 26.—In last evening's issue of the States, a lengthy article was printed disproving the charges of malfeasance in office made against Mr. Dupree, and an editorial again denouncing Mr. Wickliffe. In the meantime an affidavit was made charging that the two editors were contemplating a breach of the peace, and they were at once arrested and placed under bonds.

OHIO'S COLORED POSTMASTER.

Urbana, O., Sept. 26.—For the first time in its history, Champaign county boasts of a colored postmaster, probably the only one in the state. He is Mr. T. C. Cain, of Carysville, in one of the few democratic townships in the county. He is an intelligent and honorable business man and succeeds Benjamin F. Connor, a democrat appointed during Cleveland's administration.

CAUSED BY JEALOUSY.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 26.—On Thursday Mrs. Otto Hebrer, wife of a well-to-do butcher, gave her three children arsenic and then took a dose herself and disappeared. Yesterday her body was found in a vacant lot. The husband says his wife was insane, but neighbors deny this and say the act was caused by jealousy. The children will probably recover.

DAMAGE BY FIRES.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 26.—The damage by prairie fires in Emmons county, so far as reported, already reaches $50,000. In the Holland settlement the people lost everything, even their horses and cows being burned. The people are left destitute and will have to be assisted by the county.

INCENDIARY FIRES.

St. Johns, N. B., Sept. 26.—Numerous incendiary fires have occurred in Moncton and much property has been destroyed. A fireman who was suspected has left town. Yesterday Bangs' large warehouse was burned. There was $800 insurance on the stock and $1,000 on the building.

MURDERED HIS SWEETHEART.

IS READY FOR WAR.

Will the Czar Attack the Turks?

His Hurried Return Causing Alarm.

Affairs in Spain Greatly Unsettled.

Portugal Still Has Loyal People.

Horrible Cases of Cannibalism Reported From Russia—Parents Keep Alive by Eating Their Children.

London, Sept. 26.—A St. Petersburg dispatch says that, while the death of the Grand Duchess Alexandria is the ostensible and sufficient cause for the czar hastening back to Russia, yet the hurry of his journey has created a general impression in the Russian capital that affairs at Constantinople have a great deal to do with the czar's anxiety to be at home.

Everything is ready for an advance by land and sea toward the Turkish capital whenever the czar gives the word, and there is a nervous feeling that is may be given at any moment.

The Russian army officers are known to be anxious for a fight, and the present czar, like his predecessors, has always great respect for army sentiment.

It was the Russian army, without direct authority from the czar, that nearly brought about a conflict with England in 1885, when the czar repudiated and rewarded the action of his officers, and the same desire to measure swords and win promotion is stronger than ever to-day.

Spanish Unrest.

Queen Christina's purchase of a splendid estate in the south of Italy is considered ominous, in connection with the repeated rumors of threatened revolution in Spain. In Madrid, says a correspondent, the incident is the leading subject of political gossip, and the queen's action is commented on as showing a lack of confidence in the future.

The estate of which the queen regent has become owner is one of the finest in Europe and would be a magnificent refuge for an exiled monarch should Queen Christina have the misfortune to follow Pedro of Brazil into exile.

Surprise has been expressed that the queen did not buy a country home in Austria, where she belongs.

No Irish Cardinals.

Irish Catholics are very indignant today over the announcement that there will probably be no Irish cardinals, as a result of the coming consistory. The explanation given is that the pope wishes to keep up the Irish uncertainty, with a view to advancing the papal interests in England.

Cannibalism in Russia.

The horrible story of cannibalism among the Russian peasantry is more than confirmed, for, in some of the afflicted provinces it is said that starving families, giving up all hope of rescue, are prolonging life by devouring their helpless infants.

The local authorities find themselves unable to cope with the terrible calamity, which in its horrors reminds one of the description in Josephus of the sufferings of the Jews during the siege of Jerusalem.

In several of the provinces the peasantry has started to emigrate, and overtaken by weakness, many have perished miserably by the roadside.

Some Loyal Feeling Remains.

This morning's advices from Portugal show that the Portuguese have not lost all reverence for their royal house, notwithstanding the prevalence of republican ideas. King Carlos and his queen have been received everywhere with great enthusiasm and the populace have shown something of old-time loyalty in their welcome to the youthful monarch, whom everybody, even his political enemeis credits with good intentions.

THE SCAFFOLD FELL.

Troy, N. Y., Sept. 26.—A portion of a scaffold upon which 30 men were at work in Mechanicsville collapsed yesterday afternoon owing to the breaking of the supports. The scaffolding fell about forty feet and all of the occupants were more or less injured. Those seriously injured are Peter Lacasse, John O'Hara, Albert Yarker, Frank Peters, Joseph Cowski, John Cressa and Elmer Fowler. At least three of these will die.

PROF. KIDDLE DEAD.

New York, Sept. 26.—Prof. Henry Kiddle, ex-superintendent of the public schools of this city, died yesterday of paralysis. Prof. Kiddle was the author of several well-known educational and other books. He was 67 years old.

WILL SOON TAKE ACTION.

The Chinese Must Behave Themselves.

European Governments will Combine in Demanding Redress for the Outrages.

London, Sept. 26.—Advices from Shanghai to the London and China Telegraph, of this city, state that the highest officials at Pekin and at Nankin expect the European governments to combine in a demand for redress for the outrages perpetrated upon foreigners in China.

The same paper adds that the secret society men are also expecting such action upon the part of the powers, and that they are preparing to act when the right moment arrives. The paper says it is certain that a very prominent person has been asked to supply war material and drill instructors for use in the Lower Yang-Tse-Kiang districts. Many young men of the best Chinese families are connected with these secret societies.

A prominent foreign resident of Shanghai, the same paper states, has been asked to send estimates to Nankin for organizing a brigade of troops to be disciplined and armed according to the English system, and to be commanded by foreign officers. The same resident, it is also said, has been asked to state the terms upon which he can supply three fast steam cruisers, fully equipped for war, and to be delivered within three months time.

FOSTORIA MATTERS.

Weather Forecasts—Glass Houses to Commence Work.

Fostoria, O., Sept. 26.—Chas. M. Strong, of the Ohio meteorological bureau has been in the city this week making arrangements to furnish our city with weather forecasts 48 hours in advance. He will also establish whistling stations for the benefit of surrounding farmers.

The Fostoria window glass houses will commence work in a week from Monday, as decided by the conference of window glass manufacturers, held at Columbus Wednesday.

Miss Delia Gust has accepted the position of assistant principal of the Bryan High schools, and has gone there to assume her duties.

Fostorians fell in line with Toledo and Fremont this week in a matter of being gulled by a woman who gave different names and told different pathetic stories. Money and a ticket to Erie, Pa., were her spoils here.

Farmers say the creeks and wells are all dry, and difficulty is found in getting water for any purpose.

THE 4½ PER CENT. BONDS.

Washington, Sept. 26.—There is yet outstanding $9,142,900 of the 4½ per cent. loan which has not yet been continued or redeemed. There remain only five official days in which any of these bonds will be received for continuance at 2 per cent., as the secretary has given notice the time will expire on the 30th inst. The government deposits in national bank depositories have now been reduced to $13,039,228. Secretary Foster does not contemplate any immediate further reduction other than what will take place as a result of the recent call on certain banks and the entire abolition of other depositories in some of the towns where there were more than was deemed necessary. The total amount of the government holdings in national banks will thus be brought down to about $12,000,000.

WITHOUT AN ORGAN.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 26.—The Farmers' Home Journal, for nearly a year the official organ of the Farmers' alliance in this state, has given up its connection with that organization.

The reason assigned is that the alliance wishes to go into politics. There are two factions in the alliance in Kentucky upon this question of joining the people's party, and at the state meeting at Elizabethtown, November 10, there will be a sharp contest between the two for the election of state officers. The state officers are opposed to political action by the alliance.

DR. AYALA'S DEATH.

Shot in the Back by His Enemies.

The Political Assassin's Bullet Put an End to the Plans He Was Maturing.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 26.—A letter was received here yesterday from Col. Brannon, now in Guatemala, describing the assassination of Mr. Ayala, formerly vice president of the republic of San Salvador, and recently a fugitive from that country.

Dr. Ayala, the letter says, was the principal passenger on the steamship City of Panama when she was boarded by Salvadorian officers, who wanted to take him and Col. Brannon, with several other exiles, ashore under orders from President Ezeta.

Dr. Ayala, with the other exiles, finally reached the city of Guatemala. The Ezetas, however, had assassins on their track, and at the first opportunity Mr. Ayala was killed while sitting at his desk.

He was killed in the most cowardly manner, being shot in the back while alone. There is great excitement over the matter throughout the five states.

Col. Brannon, who writes the letter, had been for many years the warm friend of Dr. Ayala. It was the purpose of the Salvadorian exiles to mature their plans in Guatemala for the overthrow of Ezeta and the restoration of Dr. Ayala as president of the Salvadorian republic, but the bullet of the assassin has frustrated all their plans.

PUBLIC BUILDING SITE.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Assistant Secretary Crounse has selected the property at the southwest corner of West and Third streets, Madison, Ind., as the site of the public building in that city. The price paid was $8,575.

MORPHINE KILLED HIM.

Houston, Tex., Sept. 26.—Edward Scott, aged 65, of Stockton, Cal., accompanied by two daughters, en route home from the east, who was taken from a Southern Pacific train yesterday suffering from an overdose of morphine, died this morning. His remains will be taken to Stockton.

DROWNED WHILE BATHING.

Boston, Sept. 26.—Yesterday afternoon John Murtagh, aged 30, an agent for the Metropolitan life insurance company, was drowned at Lynn beach while bathing with a party of friends.

BLAINE CAN'T COME.

He Will Let McKinley Fight His Own Battles.

By so Doing He Can Better Judge the Pulse of Ohio's Voters.

Akron, O., Sept. 26.—Col. O. L. Conger, member of the republican national committee, of Ohio, recently wrote to Mr. Blaine to see if he could take part in the Ohio canvass this fall. Col. Conger to-day received the following reply:

Stanwood, Bar Harbor, Me., Sept. 25.
Col. A. L. Conger, Akron, O.:

My Dear Sir—Your favor received. I can not take part in the Ohio campaign this year for reasons which I need not give, but I hope no effort will be spared to elect McKinley. His victory at this time is very important to the country and the party. He and Mr. Campbell represent the honest differences between the two parties at this time. There is no dodging and no evasion and the voter need not be deceived. The election of McKinley means the policy of protection and honest money. The election of Campbell means free trade and the corruption of the currency. I believe Ohio will stand by McKinley.

Very sincerely yours,
JAMES G. BLAINE.

HE HAD NO MERCY.

Laurel, S. C., Sept. 26.—Wednesday and Thursday the court of sessions was occupied by the trial of Jim Young, Allen Young, Monro Young, Henderson Young, John Adams, Perry Adams, Lige Atkinson, Tom Atkinson, John Atkinson and Jack Williams (colored) for the murder of an old colored man named Thornton Nance on the night of August 3 last.

The jury retired at 6 o'clock Thursday evening, and in three hours brought in a verdict of guilty, with a recommendation to mercy. The judge sentenced them to be hanged October 23 next.

QUARTER OF A MILLION LOSS.

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 26.—S. Guckenheimer & Son's wholesale grocery and liquor house was burned last night with several adjacent buildings. Loss $250,000.

The last issue of the Bee, printed in its present quarters, will be today, and on Monday the Bee will be issued from its new home, St. Clair street, between Madison and Adams.

CLAIMS OF IMPORTERS.

Millions of Dollars Demanded From the Treasury Department.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Percy L. Shuman, one of the attorneys in the importers' legal bureau, that fought the hat trimmings cases to a successful issue, called at the custom house yesterday to arrange some matters connected with the same affair.

Mr. Shuman said that instead of the treasury department having to pay back $8,000,000 to the hat importers on account of the excessive duties, the amount in his judgment, would be nearer $20,000,000.

"Secretary Foster was offered a compromise by the importers for $5,000,000," said Mr. Shuman, "but he declined to give us anything, believing that we would be beaten in the supreme court, but when the supreme court went against him he had to give up. I believe the importers will get back about $20,000,000.

"It may be more or less, but this is my best judgment regarding the matter. The hat trimmings imported were assessed at from 30 to 60 per cent. There are 1,500 cases in New York that will have to be settled on this basis, but there are no importers here that will get any of the drawback."

COMMISSIONER CARTER.

Interesting Figures From His Annual Report.

Operations of the General Land Office During the Last Fiscal Year.

Washington, Sept. 26.—The report of Commissioner Carter of the operations of the general land office during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1891, was made public to-day. A comparative statement is made showing the number of agricultural, mineral and coal entries made during the fiscal years 1886 and 1887, and the fiscal years 1889 and 1891.

Patents issued during the fiscal years 1890 and 1891 were: Pre-emption, 149,515; homestead, 75,545; timber culture, 5,346; military bounty land, 723; agricultural college scrip, 32; miscellaneous scrip, 446; mineral, 3,199; coal, 59.

The number of agricultural patents issued during 1886-87 was 44,443, against a total of 231,607 during the years 1889 and 1891, an increase of 187,164 patents. The increase in the number of mineral patents issued was 967 and of coal patents 382.

The number of acres of public lands disposed of during the year shows that the cash sales amounted to 2,143,090 acres. Of the miscellaneous entries (not cash), 5,040,333 acres were homesteaded; 969,066 acres were entered under the timber culture law. The railroad selections amounted to 1,857,572 acres; the state selections to 174,404 acres; the Indian allotments to 117,485, and the original swamp selections to 23,167 acres.

Total cash receipts during the year, $5,429,220. Filings during the year, 20,241, the fees on which amounted to $47,039. Final entries during the year were 51,034, representing an acreage of 7,539,905; original entries the same time, 45,845, aggregating 6,409,832 acres. Decrease of entries for the year, 15,664, representing an acreage of 2,596,820. Patents to land grant railroads during the year, 3,688,679 acres, an increase over previous year of 2,724,817. Surveys have been accepted during the year to the amount of 8,096,004. The vacant public lands in the public land states and territories is 579,034,683. Commissioner Carter makes a strong plea for the irrigation of the arid lands.

The following shows the vacant public lands in acres in each of the public land states and territories: Alabama, 947,310; Arizona, 75,063,005; Arkansas, 4,998,208; California, 52,289,499; Colorado, 42,167,639; Florida, 3,468,881; Idaho, 33,781,851; Iowa, 6,060; Kansas, 7,507,678; Louisiana, 1,233,118; Michigan, 781,846; Minnesota, 6,849,975; Mississippi, 11,201,289; Missouri, 1,023,808; Montana, 74,379,769; Nebraska, 11,460,426; Nevada, 53,689,524; New Mexico, 54,893,679; North Dakota, 16,135,440; Oklahoma, 3,502,406; Oregon, 39,220,151; South Dakota, 14,085,394; Utah, 35,428,987; Washington, 20,401,639; Wisconsin, 1,043,133; Wyoming, 50,842,434. Total, 579,064,683 acres.

KILLED WHILE AT WORK.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 26.—James Darling and Sandy Ferry, while dynamiting stumps near Garfield, were instantly killed by the premature explosion of a cartridge.

"NONE BUT THE ELECT,"

The Clause Stricken From the Faith.

Rochester Presbyterians Take an Advanced Step in Making Creeds.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 26.—The Presbytery of Rochester has held its stated fall meeting at Nunday, N. Y. The matter of chief interest and importance that came up for consideration was the confession of faith as revised by the committee of the general assembly.

In chapter third, the clause "God hath predestinated some of mankind unto life," was changed to "predestinated a multitude whom no man can number."

The last sentence in the sixth section of the same chapter was struck out, to-wit: "Neither are any other redeemed by Christ effectually called, justified, adopted, sanctioned, and saved, but the elect only."

The most remarkable thing done was to vote that the seventh section, chapter of both in the original form which declares that "the rest of mankind God was pleased to pass by and to ordain to dishonor and wrath," and the revised form should be omitted altogether and the following adopted as a substitute for it:

"The decrees of God, concerning all mankind, are to be so construed as to be in harmony with these declarations of Scripture, viz.: that Christ is the propitiation for the sins of the whole world and that God is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance and live."

This change having been made, it was decided to be necessary to strike out the last section of the chapter which relates to the high mystery just expunged.

Other changes were made such as the following in chapter 6, section 2, the statement "defiled in all the faculties and parts of soul and body" was modified.

In the third section of the same chapter the clause "the guilt of this sin was imputed" was dropped because to say "we all sinned in Adam" is to say what is utterly unintelligible and conceivable and the whole idea is contrary to natural justice and to the express declaration of Scripture, "The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father." In chapter seven the clause, "Promising his holy spirit to all that are ordained into life," was changed to "all that ask him."

A similar change was made in chapter ten, section four, where it is said the non-elect "may have some common operations of the spirit," should read, "may have the gracious operations of the spirit." These were all of primary interest that were passed upon by the presbytery.

The "Bee" will remove to its new home this (Saturday) evening, and the Bee on Monday will be issued from its new building.

HAS HIS OWN CEMETERY

Another Horrible Michigan Crime.

A Man Beaten to Death and Buried.

The Authorities Have, as Yet, Taken No Action On the Matter and the Slayer is at Large.

Decatur, Mich., Sept. 26.—Near the village of Volinia, Cass county, on a large farm, lives a widow by the name of Corner. Living with her were two sons, Loren Corner and William Biggs, the latter a child by a former husband.

Since her second husband's death she has managed the farm, assisted by the two boys. Considerable trouble has arisen between the half brothers over the management of the farm.

The ill-feeling culminated on Saturday last in Volinia, where an encounter took place between them. Biggs, who had lost one leg, was at a disadvantage and Corner soon had him down, striking and stamping him until he was covered with blood.

Biggs was taken home, where he was found to be injured internally, but no physician was called.

He lingered along until yesterday, when he died at noon.

A rough box was knocked together, the body dumped in a hole dug in the orchard and the corpse deposited there. Corner has not yet been arrested.

CHURCH OPENING.

Disciples of Christ Worship in Their Own Building.

Services to be Conducted by Rev. E. V. Zollars, of Hiram College—A Brief Sketch of His Life.

To-morrow morning the congregation of the Bartlett street church of the Disciples of Christ will formally open their new house of worship with fitting and impressive ceremonies.

The services will be conducted by E. V. Zollars, president of Hiram college. There will be preaching at 10:30 a. m., 3:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. Ample provision has been made for the entertainment of visitors, and the church extends a cordial invitation to all of its friends to spend the day rejoicing with them.

The building which is to be dedicated to-morrow represents two years of ceaseless toil and financial struggle, and well these earnest workers merit the success that crowns their efforts.

The church was organized October 11, 1889, with 59 members from the Eleventh Street Christian church, and called J. L. McDonald as pastor. For two or three Sundays these few met in Weber's hall, on the East Side. After that Friendship hall, on the corner of Summit and Jefferson streets, was secured, and the congregation worshiped there for six months. During the month of June the little congregation moved again to Chandler's hall on Smead avenue, near the Wagon Works. It was here they determined to have a place of worship of their own, and at once set about to consummate this conclusion. In the month of February, 1891, the building committee was appointed, and the following April work was begun. The corner stone was laid May 4th, 1891, with interesting and suitable exercises, the pastor digging the trench for its foundation.

The structure is of modern design, and fitted out and equipped with the latest and convenient improvements. It has a seating capacity of 350 persons, and cost $3,500 with an indebtedness of $2,000. The present membership is 110.

President E. V. Zollars, who will conduct the services to-morrow, was born in Washington county, Ohio. He attended school several terms at Marietta college, and entered Bethany college in 1871, from which he graduated, sharing first honors with E. T. Williams, now a missionary in China, in 1875. He was immediately called to fill the adjunct chair of ancient languages in his alma mater. He resigned in 1877 to accept the presidency of the Kentucky Classical and Business College. Here he acquitted himself in a way to make the school exceedingly prosperous. He resigned in 1884 to enter the ministry, but acted as president in Garrard Female college one year when he accepted a call to Springfield, Ill., to serve the church there as pastor. He was very successful in his work, when extended over three years and added 300 members to the church, just doubling the membership. In 1888 he resigned to accept the presidency of Hiram college. Here he has made many improvements in the buildings and greatly increased its attendance under his care.

President Zollars is a large and strong man physically. As a speaker he immediately wins his auditors by his logical, clear-cut, optimistic statements and broad sympathies. He has few superiors in the pulpit and is a universal favorite wherever he is known.

TWO AT ONE TIME.

Balloon Disasters Continue to Occur.

One Man Killed In Michigan and Another Seriously Injured by a Fall.

Mt. Pleasant, Mich., Sept. 26.—The balloon craze has claimed another victim and as a result of a foolhardy venture late yesterday afternoon Lewis B. Earl, of Marshall, Mich., lies dead of a broken neck and Frank Thayer, of this city, is suffering from a fractured arm and severe internal injuries.

Earl made a pretty and successful ascension Thursday, and there was a big crowd on the grounds yesterday afternoon.

By way of diversion it was agreed that Thayer and Earl should go up together. Just before six o'clock the balloon was let go.

It shot upward rather slowly with Earl sitting on the trapeze bar and Thayer suspended a few feet below him by some strong ropes.

The men had reached a height of about 40 feet when suddenly to the great horror of the immense crowd of spectators one of the trapeze ropes was seen to give way and Earl and Thayer came whirling down to the ground.

Earl was dead before he was reached by any of the spectators who gathered around and a hasty examination by a physician showed that his neck was broken in the fall.

Thayer's left arm was badly fractured, he is also bruised and injured internally.

NEED REPUBLICAN VOTES

Philadelphia Preparing for Election.

Democrats Turned Out of Office by the Dozen.

A Rumor in Circulation That It Is But the Following Out of Orders From Washington.

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—(Special)—A sensation was caused among the employes of the postoffice yesterday by the announcement that several clerks and carriers had been suspended and would probably be discharged from the office for attending the Gloucester races and putting money on the horses.

A quiet investigation has been conducted by the postoffice inspectors for several weeks, owing to information received by Postmaster Field that a number of postoffice employes had been seen at the Gloucester race track.

It was reported that the men who had been seen at Gloucester had been betting freely. The information thus received was placed in the hands of the inspectors' department, and detectives set to work to find how many of the men visited Gloucester course. A number of guilty men were found, and their names handed in to Postmaster Field.

In due time these men were called on, and with the exception of one they all acknowledged their guilt. This man stoutly maintained that he had not been to Gloucester for over two years, and had never visited the race track there.

It was ascertained last evening that the following were among those suspended: Thomas E. O'Gorman, of the Thirteenth ward, a clerk in the mailing division; James McGettigan, of the Twenty-sixth ward, clerk in city paper-casing division; "Bert" Marks, of the Fifth ward, clerk in the city paper-casing division.

In connection with the above John Larkin, of the First ward, a clerk in the mailing division, was discharged for the loss of a registered package; Edward A. Muldoon, of the Twenty-eighth ward, a clerk in the mailing division, for inefficiency; Charles Ellis, a clerk in the mailing division, for inefficiency; B. F. Gubert, of the Twenty-second ward, formerly superintendent of the stamp division, and now a clerk in that division, has been notified to present his resignation, to take effect on October 1.

It is a somewhat remarkable fact that all of the discharged men are democrats.

It is rumored in postoffice circles that the postmasters all over the country have been ordered to get all democrats out before election day, and it is expected that many good men will be sacrificed in order to secure votes and prestige for Harrison in the convention of '92.

BURCHARD IS DEAD.

Sketch of a Man Prominent in History.

The Leading Incident in His Life Was the Uttering of the Words: "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion."

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 26.—The Rev. Dr. Samuel D. Burchard of New York city, who had been unconscious since early yesterday morning, died at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. He attended the First Presbyterian church last Sunday and was taken ill in the evening, but was not considered to be in a serious condition until Tuesday. His illness developed into peritonitis, and last night he reached a critical stage.

Dr. Burchard was born in Steuben, N. Y., on September 6, 1812. He received an academic education, and when 15 years old he removed to Kentucky. In 1836 he was graduated at Centre college, Danville, Ky. Soon after leaving college he began to lecture on temperance, slavery and religious questions and won a wide reputation in the state.

He also won many friends in Kentucky by his services as a volunteer nurse during the cholera epidemic of 1837. He was licensed to preach in 1838 and was installed as pastor of the Tuttletown Street Presbyterian church, New York city, May 1, 1839. He was a man of fine physical development, being over six feet in height, and was a winning speaker.

He was noted for his great kindness of heart and sympathy for those in affliction. During his pastorship he was made chancellor of Ingham university at Leroy, N. Y., which office he filled in connection with his church duties.

When he resigned his office as pastor in 1879, his congregation is said to have made him a present of $15,000 and to have mortgaged the church for the purpose.

Dr. Burchard was pastor of the Murray Hill Presbyterian church from 1880 to 1885, when he gave up pastoral work. He enjoyed the reputation of having been the third oldest member of the New York presbytery.

Dr. Burchard came prominently before the public in 1884, when a reception to Mr. Blaine, the then republican candidate for president, was tendered at the Fifth avenue hotel in New York by several hundred ministers of various denominations. Dr. Burchard was there, and had been chosen to address Mr. Blaine in behalf of the clergy who gathered in the grand corridor of the hotel on the second floor. Mr. Blaine was escorted from his room on the third floor, down the staircase in full view of the clergymen and others who had gathered to greet him.

Pausing on the staircase and half a dozen steps above the corridor floor, Mr. Blaine stood and awaited the address of welcome that was to be tendered him.

Dr. Burchard left his colleagues and ascended the staircase to the second step below Mr. Blaine. Then Dr. Burchard spoke, and as he neared the close of an address of affectionate regard and esteem for Mr. Blaine, he practically used these words: "And now, we admire and welcome you, Mr. Blaine, as the steadfast opponent of rum, Romanism and rebellion."

Years later Dr. Burchard, while speaking of the incident, said: "Well, I don't know but that I may have been the humble instrument in the hands of divine power to effect exactly the contrary of what I had in my heart to do when I spoke that day."

BOTH ARE DEAD.

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 26.—Fred Tyler, white, an engineer on the Washington Western North Carolina railroad, and Hezekiah Rankin, colored, became involved in an altercation at the round house here, during which Tyler struck Rankin with a lump of coal.

Rankin secured a pistol and fired at Tyler, the bullet striking him in the abdomen.

A crowd of railroad men caught Rankin and taking him across the river hung him to a tree. His body was found this morning. Tyler will die.

UNION PACIFIC DEBT.

Boston, Sept. 26.—Dispatches from New York to Union Pacific officials are to the effect that Drexel, Morgan & Co., have agreed to turn in $2,000,000 of their Union Pacific notes endorsed by Gould, Ames and Dillon, and take collateral notes on the same basis as all other creditors. This removes the only hitch and makes total subscriptions of creditors $12,500,000. There will be a meeting of creditors to-morrow, and it is believed that if a further extension of plan is necessary it will be granted

WILL TAKE A WIFE.

Belgrade, Sept. 26.—A report is circulated that the king of Servia has been betrothed to the Princess Helena, of Montenegro.

King Alexander I., of Servia, was born in 1876, and succeeded his father, King Milan, after the latter's abduction, March 6, 1889. Princess Helena was born in 1872.

PAULDING'S SONS OF VETERANS.

Reunion at Which a County Batallion Was Formed.

Paulding, Sept. 26.—(Special)—The Sons of Veterans of Paulding county held a reunion at Oakwood, this county, yesterday.

A county batallion was organized, with the election of Capt. A. E. Edwards, of Melrose, as colonel; Capt. W. H. Kaufman, of Antwerp, as lieutenant colonel, and A. V. R. Mott, first sergeant of John Barnes camp, of Paulding, as major.

The reunion was a grand success, there being about 200 sons in line and about 3,000 persons in attendance.

The next county reunion will be held at Antwerp the last Tuesday in August, 1892.

GRANTED AN EXTENSION.

Pittsburg, Sept. 26.—Moorehead, McCleane & Co., the embarrassed iron firm, have been granted an extension of five years by their creditors. The liabilities, which are about $1,400 000, will be paid in instalments of 10 per cent. the first year, 15 per cent. the second year, and 25 per cent. the last three years. The plant is in full operation.

THEOSOPHY'S HIGH PRIEST

Colonel Olcott is Back in This Country.

He Tells Tales That are Strange and Wierd.

Information Concerning Mahatmas and Astral Bodies, and Midnight Excursions of Ghosts.

New York, Sept. 26.—Col. Henry S. Olcott, who since the death of Mme. Blavatsky has been regarded as the undisputed high priest of theosophy, arrived in this city on the steamship City of New York. It is his first visit to his native city since he departed for India in 1878, to learn under Mme. Blavatsky's guidance all about adepts and Mahatmas and astral bodies and lots of other things altogether too occult and inscrutable for ordinary comprehension.

But Col. Olcott will tarry here only a few days. He will deliver a lecture at the Scottish Rite hall, Twenty-ninth street and Madison avenue, on "Mme. Blavatsky and Theosophy." Then, after a brief rest he will strike across the continent for San Francisco, whence he will sail on October 8 for Japan. There he is going to hold a council of the high priests of different Buddhist sects in Japan for the purpose of getting them, if possible, to accept a platform on which they can unite with Buddhists of the so-called southern school, including Burmah, Ceylon, Chittagong and some other states, the priests of which have already acceded to the proposed terms of union.

The northern school of Buddhism includes Japan, Corea, China and Thibet, and Col. Olcott is of the opinion that if he can get them to combine he will be doing a very big thing indeed. He is more interested in the east than in the west, anyhow, and believes that the Orientals, in the matter of unadulterated wisdom are a long way ahead of the nations that get up subscriptons to send missionaries to them.

By an appointment made through his agent Col. Olcott held a sort of levee for newspaper men exclusively at the Astor house, after he had safely run the gantlet of the custom house officials. For more than an hour he talked about himself, theosophy and Mme. Blavatsky, and seemed to enjoy it.

Col. Olcott's appearance conveys the idea that it does not require any fasting or mortification of the flesh to get away up in theosophy. He possesses a corpulation which an alderman might regard with unfeigned pride. But though he is 60 years old he skips around as lively as a man of 30. His hair is long and gray, he has a flowing beard and a florid complexion, and, barring the corporation already referred to, he presents a very picturesque appearance. But there is nothing that suggests the ascetic about him. He admitted that he didn't go in for that sort of thing.

"I couldn't do it," he added, "and look after all the various interests of a great number of theosophical societies in all parts of the world."

"Are you an adept?" I asked.

"No," he replied with a laugh. "If I were I would not be carrying a corporation like this around with me. But then, in justice to myself, I ought to say that I gained 20 pounds on the voyage over."

Although not an adept himself, he had occasionally been favored with communications from the adepts or Mahatmas.

"Some time in 1889, when I was on my way to Europe and within a day's sail from Brindisi," he said, "I found in my cabin, lying on the floor, a letter from one of these adepts addressed to me. The contents concerned some matters connected with the Theosophical society."

He said that these Mahatmas could project their astral bodies when and where they pleased; that they could send letters any distance and with the speed of lightning, without paying postage on them, and that they could transmit their thoughts to one another when they were hundreds of miles apart. He modestly admitted that he himself had occasionally taken a little excursion in his astral body, although he wasn't an adept.

Then he told an amazing story about the astral body phenomenon. He was traveling in India several years ago in a railway train, and had a letter from that prince of good fellows, "Sam" Ward. "Sam" wanted the letter, which asked for some information about theosophy, to be sent to a Mahatma. A high caste young Brahmin happened to be seated next to the colonel, who told him what "Sam" wanted. The Brahmin kindly offered to take an excursion in his astral body to the Mahatma, whose lodge happened to be in Thibet, several hundred miles off, and to take "Sam" Ward's letter with him. So that night while his physical body was apparently sleeping calmly, the young Brahmin shuffled off his astral body, and, clutching "Sam" Ward's letter in his astral fingers, went scooting through space to the Mahatma's house.

When he got there, however, he found that the Mahatma had also gone out in his astral body to pay an evening visit to Mme. Blavatsky in Madras, many hundreds of miles away. Nevertheless, when you are out visiting in an astral body distance makes no difference, so the young Brahmin—or rather the ghost of him, so to speak—just turned around and shot off to Madras to Mme. Blavatsky's house and delivered "Sam" Ward's letter to the astral body of the Mahatma. A few days later the letter was returned to Colonel Olcott by Mme. Blavatsky, being transmitted by mail. It was postmarked on the morning following the evening that the young Brahmin had taken his astral trip, which proved that there was no deception about it.

Didn't Quite Agree With Blavatsky.

Before Mme. Blavatsky's death some very queer stories were started about the relations which had existed between her and Colonel Olcott. It was said that they had indulged in a grand row, and had parted as bitter foes. When questioned about the matter Colonel Olcott said that the stories were about 95 per cent. false and 5 per cent. true.

"We had temperaments as widely different as possible," he said, "and we had frequent disputes. I didn't agree with many of her ideas about the movement. But it is not true that we ever became estranged. We were always united by our common interest in the Theosophical society."

He said that these Mahatmas could project their astral bodies when and where they pleased; that they could send letters any distance and with the speed of lightning, without paying postage on them, and that they could transmit their thoughts to one another when they were hundreds of miles apart. He modestly admitted that he himself had occasionally taken a little excursion in his astral body, although he wasn't an adept.

CARRYING A HEAVY LOAD

The President Weighted Down by Important Business.

Many Appointments Soon to be Made.

The Chaotic Condition of the White House Does Not Keep the Politicians Away.

Washington, Sept. 26.—(Special)—Gradually the white house is being put in order, and as soon as the decorators get through with the lobby the executive mansion will again be thrown open to the public.

The improvements that have been made during the summer have wonderfully enhanced the beauty of the place, and those who postpone their visit until everything is in readiness will be delighted with the changes they find.

During the past week the carpets have been laid in the rooms that have been newly decorated, and all that now delays the opening up of the white house is the lobby, which is being treated by the decorators in a style rich and magnificent. The blue room has long been famous for its splendid beauty, but the green room promises now to eclipse it.

If there is one thing that adds to the general effect more than another, it is the electric light plant with which the white house has been equipped. The incandescent lights, encased in grand glass globes, throw a light mellow and pleasing to the eye, and still brilliant as an illuminant.

The fixtures were made from special designs, and their duplicate cannot be found in this or any other country. The effect of this light in the lobby transforms the whole appearance of the decorations. The ceiling during the day appears like a beautiful treatment in brown, with a touch here and there of bronze. At night, under the incandescent light, the gold is brought out distinctly in the ceiling, and the tips of the embossed work on the side walls shine with the same golden luster. The interior of the white house will be wonderously beautiful and artistic when the evening receptions begin.

The present somewhat chaotic condition of things does not, however, deter visitors from calling or interfere with the business of the executive mansion.

Mr. R. A. Bacon, of Georgia, called to say a word or two in behalf of Mr. Clements, of his state, who is one of the most prominently mentioned candidates for the place on the interstate commerce commission made vacant by the death of Mr. Baggs. Mr. Bacon strongly urged the appointment of Mr. Clements, who is indorsed by well known people all over the country, and many of the active working members of congress.

The name of Solicitor Hepburn is now mentioned in connection with the commission. The Iowa contingent seems to be divided between Mr. Gear and Mr. Hepburn, and some very influential republicans are talking in favor of the latter. He now has a nice place as solicitor of the treasury, but the commerce commission would yield him a better salary, and at the same time be in the line of his profession, and his friends think he would not refuse to accept the place were it tendered him.

The president has received many letters from Kentucky democrats recommending Mr. Charles W. Buck, who was United States minister to Peru under the Cleveland administration for Mr. Bragg's chair.

Callers yesterday were Attorney General Miller, Assistant Secretary Wharton, ex-Senator Blair, Judge Paul, of Virginia, and Postmaster General Wanamaker.

Mr. Blair had quite a lengthy talk with the president about China and other topics. Mr. Blair said, after his talk with the president, that there would be some appointments soon that would be in the nature of a surprise to the people, but whether the appointment was one in which he was personally interested or not, Mr. Blair did not say.

However, the appointments over which the president is pondering may prove a surprise, for he has a fashion of doing things sometimes that are unexpected.

It appears that the appointments are not all that the executive is thinking about at present. He is paying some attention to the civil service commission, and may ask Mr. Lyman to send in his resignation.

It is understood that Private Secretary Halford and Secretary Rusk were yesterday in conference over this matter, and this would lead to the conclusion that the president will soon have it presented to him for his action.

Senator Sherman is making a heroic fight for Judge Thompson for the court of claims.

The sensation caused more than two years ago by the arrest, trial and conviction of Robert Sigel, the son of Gen. Franz Sigel, for forgery in New York city, is recalled by the action of the president granting a pardon to the young man. Young Sigel was an employe in the office of his father when the latter was pension agent at New York.

He was arrested on the charge of forging pension certificates, convicted of the crime, and sentenced on March 21, 1889, to six years' imprisonment in the Erie county penitentiary at hard labor. He was afterward removed to the Kings county penitentiary, where he now is.

The young man's health suffered considerably during his confinement, and much pressure was brought to bear on the president for his pardon because of his feeble condition. On June 3 last the president granted a pardon, to take effect in December next, but the young man failed so rapidly that he concluded to allow Sigel to be released at once. This is provided for by the pardon granted yesterday. In indorsing the application for pardon the president says:

Pardon granted in view of the extreme illness of the prisoner and the fact that his time will expire in December.

In view of the fact that the prisoner is in the last stages of tuberculosis the president has also pardoned "Jim," an Alaskan Indian, sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment in the state of Wasington for manslaughter.

NINE BLOODY ROUNDS.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 26.—Kid Ryan, of Chicago, and Freddy Bogan, featherweights, fought nine bloody rounds at the Tacoma Athletic club last night for a small purse. Ryan gave up the fight and Bogan was declared winner at the end of the ninth round.

CENTRAL OHIO M. E. CONFERENCE

THE FOURTH DAY.

Getting Down to the Routine Business Now.

A Cane Which is to be Handed Down.

The Appointments for To-morrow—Remarkable Session Yesterday—Last Night's Meeting—The Lay Delegates—General Notes.

The Methodist conference opened this morning with a half hour talk by the bishop on "Ministerial Success," in which he continued his advice and suggestions to the young preachers. These morning talks of Bishop Newman to the young ministers have been a feature of the conference, and their value to those who have listened to him cannot be estimated, as it will reach far into the future.

The business of the conference was then taken up, and the supernumerary preachers were passed. The relation of Rev. S. M. Boggs was changed from supernumerary to effective.

The superannuated preachers were passed, and among those present were Jonathan C. Givitt, Dr. Mather and Joseph Wykes, who briefly addressed the conference.

Dr. Waters came forward with a handsome gold headed cane which he stated was made of walnut taken from the tower of the Detroit Williams street M. E. church, of which Rev. H. E. Pilcher was the founding spirit. When the old church was torn down this cane was made from some of the walnut, mounted in gold, and presented to Dr. Pilcher. During the past year Dr. Pilcher was taken from the conference by death and his widow had commissioned Dr. Waters to present the cane to the Central Ohio conference, to be held by the preacher who is oldest in the ministry, and at his death it is to pass to his successor.

The conference accepted the gift and directed Rev. Dr. Waters to thank Mrs. Pilcher for her thoughtfulness.

The question then came up as to who should hold the cane. Dr. Joseph Ayers has been the longest in the ministry, but he arose, waived his rights and presented the cane to Dr. E. C. Givitt of this city, who is older in years.

Dr. Givitt accepted it, and thanked Dr. Ayers and the conference.

Presiding Elder Pope presented the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That as Dr. D. D. Mather and Dr. W. W. Winter have completed 50 years in the ministry they be requested to preach their semi-centennial sermons at the next conference.

It was decided that the minutes of the lay conference should be inserted in the minutes of the annual conference.

The different classes that had been examined reported and were passed.

A call was then made for names who desired admission or credentials, and Presiding Elder Albright, of the Delaware district, reported Rev. Wm. P. Hare, from the Baptist Church, Dr. Belt, of Bellefontaine, reported Rev. A. Rife, of the Evangelical Association of North America, and Rev. P. P. Pope, of the Toledo district, reported Rev. Marvin F. Scanlon, of the United Brethren. These gentlemen were introduced to the conference, and after they retired the matter of their admission was taken up.

This brought about considerable confusion, and numerous propositions were made as to the manner of their admission.

Dr. Belt spoke favorably of the qualifications of Rev. Rife, and asked for his admission on his credentials.

Rev. S. L. Roberts thought that these ministers who were admitted to this conference from churches of other denominations should be required to take the Methodist course of study.

After considerable discussion and numerous motions, Rev. Rife was admitted on his credential, but on condition that he take the two years' course of study.

On motion of Dr. Waters, a committee of three was appointed to inquire into the qualifications of the applicants. Revs. Waters, Williams and Avann were then chosen on this committee.

Dr. Belt moved that this committee be retained and designated as the committee on conference relationship.

This brought out more debate, and Rev. Zimmerman and Rev. Roberts objected, but wanted the committee to be on admission.

Dr. Belt and Mr. Lease spoke in favor of the former's motion.

Rev. Deal moved that four more be added to the committee, and that it be retained as the committee on conference relation.

This was carried, and Revs. Whitlock, Webster, Deal and Newton were chosen as the other members of the committee.

The other candidates for admission on credentials were then referred to this committee.

The Farley Case.

The bishop announced the report from the special committee of nine who tried Rev. George W. Farley. This report is final and is not subject to any action by the conference. The report found the defendant guilty as charged and expelled him from the ministry and membership of the Methodist church.

A resolution was also presented from the committee expressing sympathy with Mr. Farley for his error, and hoping that he might be restored to the church.

This resolution was adopted by the conference.

Miscellaneous Business.

Jacob Hoffman, E. D. Cook, E. R. Strather and E. E. McCammon were admitted on trial.

Arthur L. Hughes was ordained as deacon.

The conference passed a resolution that when it adjourns, it adjourns till 2 o'clock.

The bishop stated that Dr. Roberts would occupy the chair at the afternoon session.

The report of the board of stewards was then submitted, as follows:

Received from postal charges	$8 70
Received from church-rod fund	50 00
Receive from book concern	1,500 00
Received from preachers and societies	600 00
Balance	192 00
Conference trustees	15 00
Total	$6,071 00

It was recommended that the sum of $6,000 be raised next year to meet the wants of conference claimants, and it was apportioned as follows:

Bellefontaine district	$1,050 00
Bellefonte district	900 00
Delaware district	1,050 00
Findlay district	1,050 00
Lima district	1,050 00
Toledo district	900 00
Total	$6,000 00

The state's local secretary submitted his report.

Bishop Newman read a telegram from Bishop Joyce stating that the North Ohio conference desired the appointment of a committee on mutual boundary lines.

A committee consisting of W. W. Lance, John R. Colgan, N. B. C. Love, S. L. Roberts, Daniel Carter and Richard Wallace was appointed to consider this question.

Recess was taken until 2 o'clock.

THE REST OF THE DAY.

Rev. T. L. Wiltsie and Rev. Daniel Carter to Preach.

This afternoon the anniversary services of the Woman's Home Missionary society will occur. Mrs. W. G. Williams will preside and Rev. T. L. Wiltsie will speak of the society's work, and an interesting program of exercises will be presented.

This evening at 7:30 o'clock Rev. Daniel Carter, of Spencerville, will deliver a missionary sermon.

MEMORABLE DAY.

Bishop Newman Stirs up the People and an Old-Fashioned Methodist Time is the Result.

Yesterday was a memorable day for the Central Ohio Conference, and perhaps the most exciting, interesting and remarkable day in its history. The contest for delegates to the general conference was not only lively, but in the afternoon occurred an interesting joint session of the lay and clerical conferences that ended in a rousing spiritual awakening.

As stated in yesterday's BEE the first, second and third ballots for delegate to the general conference resulted in the selection of Dr. L. A. Belt, presiding elder of the Bellefontaine district, Dr. E. D. Whitlock, of Delaware, and Dr. A. C. Barnes, of Findlay.

An exciting contest then took place for the other delegateship between Rev. I. R. Henderson and Rev. Gersham Lease. A few scattering votes were cast, but the men mentioned were the principal contestants.

The fourth, fifth and sixth ballots resulted in no election, and the result of the seventh ballot was not announced until just before the conference adjourned. This resulted in the election of Dr. Henderson, with Rev. G. Lease and Rev. P. P. Pope as alternates.

Between the ballots, while the tellers were counting the votes, business proceeded as usual, and the reports of Presiding Elders Henderson and Barnes were read, and the pastors of their districts reported.

Dr. Cranston, of the Western Methodist Book concern, Cincinnati, was introduced to the conference, and addressed them for fifteen minutes in the interests of that institution.

The committee which had been sent to invite the lay conference then returned with that body, and they were received with all honors by the conference and given seats in the center of the house.

In introducing the laymen to the conference, Dr. Belt took occasion to especially introduce Mrs. McLean, her admission as a delegate being a forerunner of the reform that is to come.

Mr. Davis, chairman of the lay conference, was introduced and spoke briefly of the work of this conference and called upon Judge Lawrence and Mr. A. G. Williams, the elected delegates, to do the speech making.

Judge Lawrence first addressed them with a few eloquent remarks, congratulating the conference on the work it was doing and upon the unity of the church. "I also congratulate you," he said, "upon the magnificent institutions of learning of the Methodist church, and especially upon that one which is about to be erected at Washington. It will be one of the best in the country. It is also well to remark that the church is foremost in the work of higher education, and there is now not an institution of learning in the country in the interest of infidelity. I also congratulate you on your missionary work in foreign countries; it extends to every land that the sun shines upon, and great prosperity has attended the church in this as well as other fields. I am also proud not only of our great institutions, but of our magnificent bishops, whose learning, ability, energy and enterprise is not surpassed by any legislative body in the world."

The address of Judge Lawrence was greeted with loud applause, and then Mr. Williams spoke briefly to the conference.

Dr. Belt, secretary of the lay conference, read the resolutions which they had adopted against all license of the liquor traffic and favoring legal prohibition; demanding the admission of women as lay delegates to the general conference and asking for a change in the constitution for an equalization of lay and clerical delegates at the general conference.

These resolutions received lusty approval from the clergymen.

Bishop Newman welcomed the delegates in a most eloquent address, surpassing any of the magnificent speeches with which he had already favored the conference. He paid high tribute to Judge Lawrence, and congratulated the lay conference on its work. He spoke of the great institutions of the Methodist church, explained its system of government, and compared it with other denominations. He had words of advice for both laymen and clergymen, and especially urged that the former treat their ministers with the proper consideration, and never do anything to injure or blast the character of the preachers. He spoke favorably of the introduction of women into the church government, but he hoped soon to see a greater revolution which would be the universal recognition of the individuality of women. He congratulated the conference on the stand which the Methodist church had taken against rum and tobacco, and closed with a few patriotic remarks on the church, the union and the flag.

The bishop was frequently interrupted with enthusiastic applause, and his closing utterances brought out such cheers as are seldom heard in a meeting of that kind.

At the request of the bishop the audience arose and sang "America" with a vigor that could not be surpassed, and made the church fairly tremble with the strains of that grand national air.

At the close of the song the bishop stepped forward, remarking, "Now, brethren, as we sing Beulah Land I will shake hands with our lay brothers, you will all shake hands with each other, and we will have a glorious Methodist hand shake all around."

He started the hymn, and then followed a scene that can not be described. The audience had been worked up to the highest pitch by the preceding events, and at this climax they went wild. Such a scene never before occurred in this conference, and every man, woman and child in that congregation of about one thousand sang as they never sang before. Every face beamed with joy and spiritual enthusiasm. All was the wildest confusion as everybody shook hands with everybody else, and all tried to shake hands with the bishop. Venerable old ministers patted each other on the back and seemed to become young again for the moment; children climbed into the windows and many of the men mounted the pews to give freedom to their lungs and view the scene. All the while the song was rolling out a grand anthem, and was finished only to be repeated. There was no cessation or lull for 20 minutes, when they stopped, but as the bishop started to speak some one started up again. "Sing it out, brethren," said the bishop, and he joined in again and the previous scene was repeated, only with more enthusiasm, if possible, for another ten minutes. Then they closed with "Shall We Gather At the River?" and so ended the session of the conference that can never be forgotten by any one who witnessed or participated in it, and Bishop Newman had accomplished the spiritual awakening which at the opening of the conference he said he wanted to see.

LAST EVENING'S SESSION.

The Secretary of the Freedmen's Aid Society Speaks of the Work.

Last evening Rev. Dr. G. W. Gray, secretary of the Freedmen's Aid society, delivered an address on the occasion of the anniversary of the society. He said among other things: "The society was organized 24 years ago with the object in view of educating in the precepts of the Methodist church the people in the 16 southern states 7,000,000 of whom are negroes. A large number of schools have been established and we have now accommodations for nearly 1,000 students. The schools are made self supporting as fast as possible and the annual collections of the society are used to further the work. We need all the help that it is possible for the Central Ohio conference to give. The apportionment of this conference is something like $4,300, but of this amount only $1,220 has been paid in. If the balance was forthcoming it would educate and give religious instruction to 310 southern colored people."

His remarks were very interesting and will tend to stir the conference up on the points presented.

FOR THE CONFERENCE.

A Communication Sent From Stryker for Consideration.

EDITOR BEE: Representing the industrial people of North western Ohio, irrespective of sectarian policy, will you favor the opportunity of the M. E. conference session now in Toledo, in giving expression to a petition of the World's Christian Temperance union, which reads as follows:

Honored Rulers, Representatives and Brothers:

We, your petitioners, although belonging to the physically weaker sex, are strong of heart to love our homes, our native land and the world's family of nations.

We know that clear brains and pure hearts make honest lives and happy homes and that by these the nations prosper.

We know that indulgence in alcohol, opium and other narcotics disgrace our social life with many crimes against civilization, and distressing want in families and communities, and brings every victim to the habit to a condition of impaired manhood, and the state to a needless tax to support insane, orphan and other asylums.

We know that intoxicants sold under legal guarantee make governments partners in the traffic by accepting a share of its profits.

We know that the law might do much, now left undone, to raise the moral tone of society and render vices and crimes more difficult.

We, therefore, come to you with united voices of representative women of every land, beseeching you to raise the standard of the law to that of Christian morals, to strip away the safe guards and sanction of the state from the drink traffic in the licensed saloons, and so far as is possible, protect our homes by the total prohibition of these curses of our civilization throughout all the territory over which your government extends.

It is greatly to be desired that the attention of our world-wide army shall converge from this time on until the convention in Boston, November 13 to 18, when the great world wide circulated petitions are brought together. May I not also ask that at all conventions, conferences, etc., this autumn an effort be made to secure by rising vote the indorsement of this petition. FRANCES E. WILLARD.

DELEGATES AND ALTERNATES

Chosen by the Lay Electoral Conference.

Judge William Lawrence, of Bellefontaine, one of the lay delegates, is too well known to Ohio people to need any extended introduction. Not only has he a state reputation but a national one as well. For years he was connected with the government at Washington, but of late years has resided at his home at Bellefontaine. He has been prominently identified with Methodism, and with church affairs nearly all his life, and his selection as a lay delegate to the general conference will be of much credit to the conference and to the state.

A. G. Williams, the second delegate, is a member of the charge at Perrysburg, which is one of the oldest charges in the conference. Mr. Williams has been connected with the Methodist church for nearly thirty years. He is a business man and is connected with the Stevens' Filter company, of Toledo, of which Mr. John W. Callard is secretary. His standing on the Toledo district may be judged when it is known that he captured a majority of the delegates on the first ballot in the caucus which preceded the regular meeting, and then received the solid support of the 36 delegates in the formal election.

There is no man in northwestern Ohio with whom people are better acquainted than Hon. Levi Meredith, of Van Wert, the other lay alternate chosen. Mr. Meredith was born in Coshocton county in 1829, and came to Van Wert in 1862. He was for a number of years engaged in the produce business, but later became proprietor of the most extensive jewelry store in Van Wert. He was elected to the senate of the Sixty-seventh general assembly of Ohio, and was a member of the house of the Sixty-eighth general assembly.

Within the past year or so he has become a boot and shoe merchant.

He has been a member of the Methodist church for 42 years, and has been a trustee for 20 years. The construction of the splendid edifice at Van Wert was largely due to the untiring efforts of Mr. Meredith, who has at all times been undefatigable in church work. His selection as alternate to the grand conference is an honor to the conference, to the Lima district and to the city of Van Wert.

J. W. Tilton, one of the alternates chosen to the general conference, is a resident of Marysville. He was born in Licking county, in 1843, and moved to Union county in 1882 where he engaged in the real estate business. He is ex-mayor of Marysville, and was a member of the Seventy-sixth Ohio regiment during the war. At the present time he is an aid on the staff of Gen. Warner, commander of the Ohio department G. A. R. He has been a Methodist since he was 18 years old, and has been a steward in the church nearly all his life.

ONE OF THE NEW CHURCHES

Built During the Year on the Toledo District.

The cut elsewhere given represents the outward appearances of the Port Clinton M. E. church, which is in the Toledo district, and was dedicated in October last.

The place of the building was furnished by Mr. L. G. Welker, of Toledo, and is especially excellent in the following particulars, namely: Economy of space, arrangement of compartment and convenience of seating a large congregation. By the Smead and ventilating system the entire building can be made comfortable at any time.

The building when completed cost $15,000, every dollar of which is fully provided for.

For the erection of this fine church and its entire financial success, great credit is due the pastor, Rev. C. W. Taneyhill.

Notes.

Several lay committees were about the church this morning.

The majority of the lay delegates returned to their homes last night.

Most of the pastors were on the anxious seat last night as to their appointments.

Some of the brethren became badly rattled this morning on parliamentary law.

Rev. W. A. Barker will preach at the Second Baptist church Sunday evening.

This is one of the most pleasant conferences Bishop Newman has held this year.

At the First Presbyterian church Rev. J. M. Mills will preach in the morning and Rev. E. D. Whitlock in the evening, instead of in a reversed order as published yesterday.

BIOGRAPHICAL.

Brief Mention as to the Lives of Members of the Central Ohio Conference.

J. M. MILLS

Was born in Hocking county, O., November 5, 1851. He was thrown upon his own resources at the early age of 13. He attended the public schools in that section and was prepared for college under the private tutorage of Prof. Fee, Somerset, Ohio. He attended Fairfield academy.

He united with the M. E. church at the age of 16 and three years later was soundly converted, and at once became identified with Sunday school work, serving as superintendent of his home school for many years. From 1872 to 1875 he traveled as salesman for the publishing house of S. J. Johnson & Co., New York city. He subsequently studied theology and was licensed to preach, entering the Ohio conference as a supply at Circleville in 1877, and became a member of the Central Ohio conference in 1881.

During his ministry Mr. Mills has been stationed at the following cities: Circleville, Marion, Columbus Grove, Delta, Fremont and Defiance.

These stations represent 16 years of labor.

The last issue of the Defiance Express has the following complimentary notice of Mr. Mills and his work:

Rev. J. M. Mills, pastor of the St. Paul M. E. church, preached his last sermon for this conference year Sunday evening, and on Tuesday morning left for Toledo to attend the annual session of the Central Ohio conference.

REV. J. M. MILLS, OF DEFIANCE.

The church here has just closed one of the most prosperous years in its history. Its contributions to benevolences are the largest ever given by it in a single year. To the support of ministry it has contributed $1,640; home and foreign missions, $769; other benevolent causes, $200; current expenses, repairs, etc., $820; making a grand total of $2,500. As the above statement goes to show, the membership is large, prosperous and liberal. There have been accessions every month during the year.

As a pastor and citizen Rev. J. M. Mills has made hundreds of friends in and out side the pale of his church. He is kind, sympathetic and easy to approach. He has had a pleasant word for all; sympathy for the sorrowing and reassuring promises for those who have tired of sin; he has answered the calls of the distressed; he has contributed to charity. In the pulpit he is an earnest and instructive speaker. He submits the truth of the gospel and strongly pleads with his hearers to accept the promises of the Master and flee from the wrath that will surely fall upon the house of unrighteous. Nor has he labored in vain, for, as noted above, there have been accessions to his flock every month during the past year.

A. A. THOMAS.

The subject of this sketch was born in Pickaway county, Ohio, June 23, 1837. He lived and wrought on a farm until 17 years of age. At this time he entered the profession of teaching. By economy and perseverance he was enabled to satisfy a desire for a more thorough education by entering the Northwestern Ohio university, from which educational institution he graduated in 1867 in the scientific course. In 1885 he was chosen by the Philomathian Literary society to represent them in contest debate against John Montgomery, the standard bearer of the Franklin society. In 1869, at the commencement exercises of his alma mater, he had conferred on him the degree of A. M., as a recognition of his success in his field of labor. In 1887 he was admitted to the Central Ohio conference on trial. He was sent by Bishop Bowman to North Baltimore. He has completed his fourth year at that place. He was elected to deacon's orders in 1889 at Upper Sandusky. Bishop Hurst presiding. He has been elected to elder's orders during this conference, and will be ordained an elder to-morrow by Bishop Newman. A pleasant relation exists between him and his people, and he is likely to return the fifth year, the full limit of the pastorate in the M. E. church.

FLETCHER L. WHARTON

Is an Ohio boy, born in New Holland, and is a son of Rev. Henry Wharton, deceased, who for 30 years was a member of the Ohio conference. At the age of 12 years he entered the university at Delaware and remained four years, leaving in 1864 to enter the union army without graduating. At the close of the war he taught school for a time, and then studied law with Col. W. P. Reid, at Delaware. At the end of two years, in obedience to a conviction which he had carried from childhood, Mr. Wharton entered the ministry of the Methodist church. He studied theology at Evanston in the Garrett Biblical institute. He formally assumed the duties of a pastor in 1876 in North Indiana, where he continued until 1881, when he transferred to Wisconsin. In the latter state he served the churches in Merrill, Wausau, Evansville and Milwaukee. In October, 1890, he was transferred to the Central Ohio conference and was stationed at Williams Street church, Delaware, the home of the greater part of his boyhood and early manhood. As a mark of the satisfaction afforded, it may be stated that his return is unanimously asked for.

A. B. LEONARD

Is a Pennsylvanian, born May 17, 1853. He entered the ministry at the age of 26, and was received into the Sandusky conference in 1879. He remained in that connection for 10 years, filling some of the most important charges. In 1888 he was elected presiding elder of the Fostoria district. After traveling one year as presiding elder, at his own request, Mr. Leonard received a letter of honorable dismissal from the U. B. conference and church at Bowling Green, O., September 20, 1889, and was received into full connection with the Central Ohio conference at Upper Sandusky, September 23, 1889, and appointed to Fayette charge, where he has just closed his second year, with an addition to the membership of 80 since the last conference.

ALVA C. THOMAS

Was born in Greene county, Ohio, August 1, 1829, and moved with his parents to Minnesota in the spring of 1856. He enlisted in the Third Minnesota Regular Volunteer infantry in November, 1861, and served two years and 10 months in the war of the rebellion. He was converted and joined the M. E. church in February, 1863, and licensed as a local preacher in 1872, and served the following charges by the appointment of presiding elder: Hiaskins, two years; Junction, Paulding county, three years. Mr. Thomas was received on trial in the Central Ohio conference in September, 1881, and has since served the following charges: Deshler, Holgate, three years; North Baltimore, three years, and Arcadia four years.

CHARLES HOAG.

Now residing on Summit avenue, North Toledo, was born in Franklin county, New York, January 5, 1830, and came to Ohio with his parents when 6 years old, and they moved to Toledo when he was but 9 years. He may, therefore, be classed as one of the pioneers of the Maumee valley, and his life work in this vicinity has been that of a giant.

He was educated in the Toledo schools and at Berea college, and even in his early studies showed that indefatigable energy through which he made a mark later in life.

He joined the Central Ohio conference in 1866, and since his connection with that body has served the charges at Brunnersburg, Ottokee, Millbury, Weston, Whitehouse, Antwerp, Detroit Avenue and Albany Street, Toledo, Gibsonburg and Freeport. Through his efficient work church edifices were erected at Weston, Albany Street, Toledo, and at Dowling.

The establishment of the Albany Street church at North Toledo was largely due to his efforts, and he has ever since kept a fatherly eye on that congregation. He not only aided by his labors but also with money, and only a short time ago cancelled an $800 note which he held against the church. He was superannuated in 1881, but has done much efficient work since that time in pastoral labors.

JOHN W. HILL.

John Wesley Hill, one of the best known ministers of the Central Ohio conference, was born in Fayette county O., in 1831. He removed to Allen county when but 3 years old, and to Van Wert county in 1835. At that time Van Wert county and, in fact, nearly all of northwestern Ohio, was a vast wilderness, and the early settlers were subjected to all the hardships and privations incident to the settlement and development of

"WATCH" IS DEAD.

The Champion St. Bernard of the World No More.

Taken With Inflammation of the Lungs, He Passes Away After Two Day's Sickness—Buried at the Kennels.

"Watch" is dead.

The great St. Bernard, owned by Mr. John Poag, lies in a newly made grave at the kennels in East Toledo.

"Watch" was the champion St. Bernard of the world and originally cost his owner, Mr. Poag, $5,000. The BEE, at the time of his purchase in England, gave a detailed history of the celebrated animal.

About 10 days ago the dog was taken ill, but nothing was thought of it until he refused to take his food. When the case grew serious the best medical skill was called in, but without avail.

"Watch" died on the evening of September 21, and the matter somehow was kept secret.

The cables, however, bore the news to England, where the death of the famous dog will be severely felt in sporting circles.

To-day Mr. Poag is in receipt of telegrams from various parts of the country relative to the dog's death. Mr. Poag was warmly attached to the docile and splendid animal, and naturally feels the loss of the dog very much.

"Watch was buried under a tree near the kennels in East Toledo, and a handsome stone will probably mark the spot where he lies.

"Why did you not have him stuffed?" Mr. Poag, was asked by a BEE this morning.

"Well, I thought of it, but one seldom sees a dog stuffed naturally, or that looks at all like the original, so I did not want to see him at all unless as his natural self."

"He died of inflammation of the lungs, it is said."

"Yes, the post mortem which I had held revealed that fact. He had been ailing for a couple of weeks, but I thought but little of it until he was taken down seriously ill. Big dogs like 'Watch' are always delicate."

"Will you try to replace him?"

"Well, I have got 'Beau Sire,' another good dog, but there is no St. Bernard living that could replace 'Watch.' His brother, 'Keeper,' owned in England, stands second as champion St. Bernard."

"Beau Sire," Mr. Poag's great rough coated St. Bernard, is by Victor Joseph and Nubia Ita, weighs 175 pounds, and stands 34 inches at the shoulder. He is one of the greatest dogs of his kind in the country.

The Bee is to-day published for the last time from its old quarters, 136 138 St. Clair street. Since 1877 it has had a daily issue, except upon Sundays and legal holidays, from this hive which it has long since outgrown. In this building it has for fourteen years served the public, according to its own belief as to what was the best interests of that public. Its reward is that the appreciation of the people has so increased its circulation and enlarged its business that much more commodious quarters became necessary, and its own building has now been erected. On and after Monday next the Bee will be published in its own handsome, modern and convenient new block, on St. Clair street, between Adams and Madison.

With Lucas county democrats united and harmonious, prospects are very bright for the election of the entire democratic county ticket.

It is understood that Commissioner Engelhardt will not circulate copies of the new pamphlet on "The Gospel of Good Roads" among the voters of Lucas county.

Boss Brown politely informed Col. Smead yesterday, that if he was opposed to Sherman, he could not have the senatorial nomination. Toledo's postmaster runs things to suit himself.

The Two Johns, Ryan and Canary, will represent this district in the senate of the next General Assembly of Ohio, and they will not vote for John Sherman either. Boss Brown's power is limited.

Hon. W. C. Warner, of New York, has been doing splendid service in Northwestern Ohio, during the past few weeks. He is sent out by the New York tariff reform club, and is an eloquent and forceful speaker.

B. P. Hutchinson will contribute a paper to the October number of the North American Review on "Speculation in Wheat." If Speculator Hutchinson will tell all he knows on the subject this will be very interesting reading, and we shall know all about "corners."

The republican senatorial convention yesterday ignored Lucas county and nominated Rorick from Fulton and McConica from Hancock. Lucas county with its vast interest should have a representative in the state senate. The election of Honest John Ryan and his running mate, John W. Canary, is assured.

Sir John Gorst, political secretary of the India office for Great Britain, predicts that if the land question is not speedily settled in England there will be revolution. Tory papers reply that Sir John is dissatisfied because he was not made postmaster-general. It is none the less a marked indication of how fast and how far the old landmarks in Great Britain are being left behind that any "Sir" whomsoever should admit the land question is not forever settled in that nation, or should hint that the people are so greatly discontented that a revolution is even possible.

Rev. Dr. Dilke urges upon the American Board of the Congregational church the appointment of a sociological secretary. This is one of the cheering signs indicating that the church at last is drawing nearer to the idea that a study of the social and political conditions of a community is a part of its duty; that upon its intelligent discharge of this duty depends, in greater measure than at any previous period, its usefulness and the advance of the principles it stands for. If bad men have too much control of governmental and industrial affairs, if they are able to set all the boundaries of social conditions, it is because good men have been too narrow to see and to do their share of such work. There are signs of a dawn of better things.

The political pot bubbles and boils as merrily in England as with us. In the last number of the Current Monthly Mr. Gladstone has a very interesting article on the significance of the late by-elections. These elections, which are usually very little noticed and are without special significance, have during the present parliament kept the country in a political ferment. There have been, since August, 1886, 125 by-elections. In 89 of these the constituences, which at the general election of 1886 returned 62 members for the government party and 27 for the opposition, there has been a change that has returned 45 members of the liberal party, and 44 who support the present ministry. There is little doubt that when parliament again convenes the first test vote will show the liberals and their allies in the majority. Parliament will then be dissolved, according to the established custom, and all parties will appeal to the country through a general election. Should Gladstone's health then permit him to lead his party, he will once more be premier of England.

It appears Massachusetts republicans, like those nearer home, would like to dodge the tariff issue. They admit that it was the issue last November, and that elections the country over were lost to the party on that issue, but, say they, the people were deceived by "democratic lies about the tariff." This was the sum and substance of the speeches at the Massachusetts republican ratification banquet last week, and the papers of the party take it up. The Boston Herald rejoins:

It was easy to tell lies about the McKinley tariff, but to make them effective was a different matter. The real question is, which side was lying—if it is decent fit to use this term—the side which condemned the McKinley tariff or the side which approved it. They both appealed to the great audience of the people upon the subject. If the Herald and those with it did misrepresent the case, surely the republicans had a full opportunity to make their statement also. They had more newspapers on their side than there were on the other; they made more speeches to the people; their state swarmed with their orators, from Senator Hoar down. They had the ear of republican voters ten times the extent that the speakers of the other side had it. Everything was to their advantage with them; yet, according to their own statement, these republican voters, after having heard all these republican speeches and read all these republican newspapers, went over in thousands to the other side.

Furthermore the people now have practical demonstration of how the tariff works. Yet again the democrats seek to make it the leading issue, and the republicans are determined to avoid it. Which side was lying last year?

THE RECIPROCITY HUMBUG.

When a republican orator is cornered on the tariff question and forced to say something in its defense, he can do no better than to fall back upon the two limitations of its unrestricted workings which his party has effected. He "points with pride" to free sugar and reciprocity limited. If the people do not know that sugar is "freed" by taxing them to pay a bounty to sugar growers, they will find it out by the time that tax has been once more paid. As for reciprocity it is, so far as it goes, an endorsement of the sound principles of democracy which demands a revenue tariff only. But how far, really, does Blaine's various treaties of reciprocity relieve a restricted and congested market? What gains to the commerce and industries of the United States has his policy brought about? In their affright at the compromise of the party by the McKinley tariff more than one republican leader endeavors to stand sponser for the reciprocity idea. Is it worth while?

Take, for instance, the treaty with Brazil, over which peans of praise have been sung. Has the secretary of state by his reciprocity treaty with that country secured anything of value? American farmers and merchants may be interested to know how the result of the treaty negotiations are looked upon by the party of the second part. The negotiations were between Mr. Foster, our ex-minister to Spain, and Mr. Mendonca, the Brazilian representative at Washington.

Mr. Foster began negotiations by pointing out that the president of the United States could, on January 1, 1892, under the McKinley act fix a duty on Brazilian coffee that would net $10,000,000; on hides, $1,500,000; on sugar, $5,000,000. The United States would forego this $16,500,000 tribute on conditions. Mr. Mendonca states that the conditions were the admission to Brazil, "free of duty, or at a 50 per cent. reduction of a list of articles which included nearly all articles of North American production." So far good. If there had been only one side to the bargain and that our side, Mr. Blaine's limited reciprocity might have amounted to something.

When it came Mr. Mendonca's turn to make terms his suggestion to Mr. Foster was that as Brazil has practically a monopoly of the coffee supply, that country could stand the imposition of a duty of three cents a pound if the people of this republic could stand it to pay the duty. Said the Brazilian negotiator:

"The United States has no other source from which to draw its coffee than Brazil. The coffee of all other countries put together scarcely amounts to a third of what it receives from our ports. We have, therefore, nothing to fear from competition. Whether subject to duty or not, our coffee exportation would not be affected to the extent of a single pound."

Mr. Foster dropped the coffee club and the lighter weight threat regarding hides was next considered. Again Mr. Mendonca showed up the other side of the question. Here is his argument:

"It is certain that Brazilian hides would not be sensibly affected by the threatened imposition of a duty of 1 1-2 cents per pound. Our markets for hides are the United States and England. The production does not keep pace with the consumption. The price is accordingly continually advancing. If the United States should impose a tax on this article they would only make dearer a raw material which they need, with the result that English manufacturers would introduce their products into the United States and undersell the domestic manufacturers."

Once more Mr. Foster retreated, and fell back upon sugar. Here negotiations mutually acceptable began, and the report of the Brazilian minister of foreign affairs, from which the above statements by Mr. Mendonca are quoted, shows how the termination of the negotiations is regarded in that country. Quoting once more from Mr. Mendonca:

"I formulated lists of North American products with complete exemption of duties and with reductions of 25 per cent. of the duty in force. If I consented to add new articles to those in the second list, I eliminated others which figured in the first list, taking the precaution to suppress those products which gave us considerable revenue. The loss of revenue we suffer by these concessions amounts to $962,941."

The Brazilians evidently think they have the best of the bargain, and it looks as though they had. To this a country comes that seeks to shut out, in these days of international relations, all natural intercourse with its neighbors. Prohibitive tariff is a challenge on the part of any country to all other countries. Reciprocity treaties under a prohibitive tariff are a humbug. The people have had enough of both.

WANTS VINDICATION.

Quebec, Sept. 26.—It is said that Mr. Mercier will risk his chances in an appeal to the people. The refusal of the lieutenant governor to grant writs for two by-elections is said to be the cause of this resolve. Mr. Mercier considering the refusal an act of persecution.

FORAKER SHUT OUT.

Republican Senatorial Convention Names Sherman Men.

Brazen Attempt to Count Out Rorick.

The Fine Italian Hand of Jim Brown Is Seen Throughout It All—The Outside Counties Form a Combine and Win.

Foraker was not in it.

James M. Brown was on deck, and he manipulated the convention for Sherman.

The Fedral building was strongly represented, and managed to out-general and out-manoeuvre the Sherman forces.

The senatorial convention in Walbridge hall yesterday resulted in a field battle between the Sherman and Foraker forces, and contrary to general expectations the Shermanites won a complete and overwhelming victory.

Col. Isaac D. Smead was induced to enter the lists as the champion of his warm personal friend, ex-Governor Foraker, and when it is learned that even the colonel with all his personal popularity and magnetism was unable to stem the tide of the Sherman onslaught, it will be seen how badly the Forakerites were beaten.

It was a battle for blood from the very start, and all during the convention the local Foraker men had it nearly all their own way. The Shermanites, however, had better generals, and Jim Brown still wears the laurels as the champion caucus manipulator.

In the Lucas county caucus Col. Smead pronounced himself an out and out Foraker man, but later was induced to modify this by saying he would vote for the nominee of the majority of the people of this district.

The strength of the two factions was seen in the first ballot, wherein Lucas county gave Smead 61 out of a total of 87, giving the Shermanmen 26 votes.

The BEE gave the first ballot yesterday and the second stood as follows:

Fulton county—Smead, 27; Rorick, 27.
Hancock county—Harbough, 16; Brewer, 19; McConica, 50; Smead, 15.
Henry county—Harbough, 9; Smead, 9; Couch, 20; Rorick, 2.
Lucas county—Harbough, 5; Brewer, 2; McConica, 32½; Smead, 61; Couch, 16; Rorick, 61½.
Putnam county—Harbough, 19; Brewer, 1; McConica, 7; Couch, 2; Rorick, 9.
Wood county—Harbough, 22; Brewer, 30; McConica, 21; Smead, 10; Rorick, 11.
Totals—Harbough, 71; Brewer, 52; McConica, 110½; Smead, 122; Couch, 38; Rorick, 110½.

It required 127 votes to nominate and it will be seen that Smead lacked but five votes to secure the nomination.

There was some tall wire pulling preceding the third ballot.

The Shermanites got in their work with the outside counties. Hancock and Fulton induced Wood to go into a combination that knocked out Smead.

Everyone thought Smead was to have a walkaway in the third, but a prominent Sherman man came to the reporters' table and figured out the surprising result fully ten minutes before the ballot was taken or amended.

The fine Italian hand of J. M. Brown could be seen through it all.

Seldom or never has there been such a brazen attempt to beat a candidate out of a nomination as was the case after the third ballot, when the Lucas county Foraker men attempted to count out Rorick.

Wood, which had early in the deal withdrawn Brewer, had not yet voted, and the vote as amended stood, Rorick, 135; Smead, 122; McConica, 118.

Rorick had more than enough to nominate, and if Wood gave her vote to McConica, Smead would not be in it.

Lucas County—Foraker men raised a howl and asked to be allowed to change the vote.

Clarence Brown said through a mistake Oregon township had voted twice.

After the hottest kind of a debate, during which Hancock and Fulton men threatened a great deal, Lucas county made the desired change and this was the way it stood:

How it stood at first: Smead, 66; Couch, 14; Rorick, 64; McConica, 30.

The vote as changed: Smead, 79; Rorick, 50; Couch, 11; McConica, 36½.

This was so evidently a deal and a dicker that Fulton county was solid.

Wood, however, had not yet voted, but when she did it was found that Lucas was was not in it.

This was the vote:

Fulton county—Smead, 14; Rorick, 27; McConica, 13.
Hancock county—Smead, 20; Rorick, 30; McConica, 50.
Henry county—Smead, 18; Couch, 20; Rorick, 2.
Lucas county—Smead, 79; Couch, 11; Rorick, 50; McConica, 36½.
Putnam county—Smead, 4; Rorick, 17; McConica, 17.
Wood county—Rorick, 47; McConica, 47.
Totals—Smead, 135; Couch, 31; Rorics, 173; McConica, 163½.

Three of the candidates—Smead, McConica and Rorick—had received more than enough to nominate, and the Forakerites saw a ray of hope in this fact.

J. D. Ford climbed on a seat and argued that the convention was entitled to an other ballot.

Col. Smead stepped on the reporters' table while the chairman proceeded to mount the table on the platform.

An attempt was made to howl down Col. Smead.

The delegates crowded and crushed and shouted and yelled.

Chairman Hamilton stood looking on hopeless and helpless.

When something approaching order was restored, Col. Smead was heard to thank the convention and to withdraw his name unconditionally.

A Hancock county man warned the convention against establishing the dangerous precedent of counting a man out after he had been nominated.

Chairman Hamilton said the circumstances were peculiar, and he asked the convention to take some action.

A motion came from Wood to declare the two receiving the highest votes nominated.

This was received with a howl from Lucas, which still insisted on another ballot.

C. F. Griffin and Col. Smead both supported the motion to declare the two receiving the highest votes elected.

After a great deal of angry wrangling the motion was put and carried and Rorick and McConica were declared the nominees of the convention.

Messrs. Rorick and McConica were escorted to the platform and returned thanks.

THE TWO JOHNS.

The two Johns will make a winning ticket. They are both true democrats, and while they will faithfully represent the whole people of the district, they can be depended upon to vote to retire John Sherman and put a man in his place as United States senator who will vote for the repeal of the present republican iniquitous tariff laws, and other proper relief for the people.—Findlay Courier.

ON THE HIGHWAYS.

Some Young Toledo Men Start a Nightly Crusade in the Saloons and Alleys.

For the past two evenings after the city has gone to rest, and the streets were deserted by all but a few belated pedestrians, a band of young men have started out on a novel line of evangelistic work. They were all members of the Toledo Y. M. C. A., and they went forth into the streets, alleys, saloons and low dens and gathered in all sorts and conditions of men. The wheezy half drunken frequenters of barroom chairs and tables, the gay boys about town, the half starved homeless wanderers, hungry in mind and body, respectable young men who had been to entertainments or making calls, in fact in all sorts and conditions of men. The streets at a late hour. All these people were taken to the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, where lunch was served and a short service and address by the evangelist, Frank W. Smith, were listened to. This evening the operation will be repeated, the service being held at 10:30 p. m. Mr. Smith will take for his subject Jonah and the Whale. The work has thus far been successful, and a number of converts have been made. The attendance has been nearly one hundred both evenings, and half of this number had probably never before attended a religious service.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Good Crops Have Made the Farmer Glad.

Collections, While Fairly Good, are Not What They Should be This Season.

New York, Sept. 26.—R. G. Dun & Co's weekly review of trade says: None of the disturbances threaten to affect the general prosperity which enormous crops now promise, and the failure of a house of extraordinary repute and strength to sustain the price of corn is at once a proof of the general prosperity, and a warning that whoever gets on the wrong side when this country is growing is liable to be hurt.

The reports from cities indicate a continuance of the general improvement in trade already noticed.

At Boston business is good. At Philadelphia the iron market improves, and the demand for tin plates is especially increased. At Cleveland good trade is seen in dry goods, hardware, and groceries, though clothing and boots and shoes are dull.

At Detroit trade improves, with good manufacturing demand for iron, and funds going into the country for wheat. At Cincinnati trade is fairly active, with the whisky business in good condition.

At Chicago the week was one of the largest on record in cattle receipts, which were over 53,000 head, and while some increase appears in hogs, oats, and corn, dressed beef, hides, and wool, receipts of wheat and rye were nine times last year's, though in barley, cured meats, lard, cheese, and butter there was some decrease.

Sales of dry goods, clothing, and shoes exceed last year's, and while collections are not quite satisfactory, there is some improvement. At Milwaukee, the hot weather which secures corn and tobacco, retards trade in woolens, but general business is good.

At Minneapolis trade is especially brisk in flour, the output being 180,000 barrels against 160,000 last year, and wheat receipts 1,800,000 against 1,900,000, while lumber is strong and higher prices contemplated. At St. Paul trade is very active and confidence strong. At Kansas City trade steadily improves.

At Louisville great improvement is noted, with confidence fully restored, and at Memphis increased activity is seen in every line, though business is yet below the normal. Improvement is seen in Galveston, at New Orleans, where cotton slightly advanced and rice is steady, and at Savannah, where cotton receipts are heavy.

Reports as to money markets are generally favorable. Money is easier at Boston and Philadelphia, fair supply at Cleveland and Cincinnati, and for mercantile needs at Chicago and Milwaukee, easier at Kansas City, Louisville, and Savannah, but very active at New Orleans. Collections are fairly good almost everywhere. Gold exports have as yet hardly balanced large shipments to the interior for products.

The great industries are doing well. There is a distinctly better demand for iron without advance in price. More inquiry is seen for rails, 20,000 tons being sold here, a stronger demand for bar, moderate activity in plate, and structural mills fairly employed. Copper is stronger on large consumption, distribution of tin is larger, and lead is stronger.

Steady sales of wool give proof of consumption equal to last year's, though in dress goods larger, desirable fabrics are being sold beyond the capacity of many mills, and the better grades of worsteds, all wool cassimeres, and heavy cheviots selling well, with unprecedented demand for good white flannels, while the medium, "veneered," and cotton warp goods, and the cheaper flannels are no longer wanted. It is a notable evidence of growing prosperity that the demand thus changes from inferior to better goods. In cotton goods the buying is larger than for years in many lines.

Wheat has advanced 1 cent, but corn has fallen 6 cents during the week. Cotton is 3-16 higher with better exports, but a sharp fall of 1 1-4 cents has occurred in coffee. The fall in stocks on Thursday averaged $1.80 per share.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the past seven days number, for the United States 210, and for Canada 34, or a total of 244 failures, as compared with 239 last week and 214 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 219, representing 192 failures in the United States and 27 in the Dominion of Canada.

Heavy Storms to Start in With October

And Give the People a Taste of Coming Winter.

An Interesting Talk on Electricity and the Power It Exerts in Moving Planets and Causing Storms.

Special to the Bee.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 26.—A remarkable period of great storms will occur during the first half of October that will be surpassed only by those that will occur in March, 1892. There will be three storm waves during this storm period which will cross the continent from west to east along the usual storm center routes.

The first of these storm waves will be most severe in the Mississippi valley and the last one on the Atlantic coast. The first of these storm waves will be due to leave the Pacific coast about September 30, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from October 1 to 3, and reach the Adantic coast about the 5th.

On the 2d this storm wave will be crossing the Mississippi river not far from St. Louis, and will then be of very considerable force in Illinois and Mississippi.

Accompanying this storm wave may be expected tornadoes, cloudbursts, hail and severe gales, and within one or two days following it killing frosts will visit most localities north of latitude 36, with a strong probability of frosts much further south.

Hurricanes will develop great force on the North Atlantic at this time, but I cannot give their exact location, but they will probably be not far east of the West Indies.

These hurricanes will become very fierce along the Atlantic coast from 15th to 18th of October.

These October storms will indicate what the coming winter will be. I expect very great storms from the first of October to the last of March, and if this period of storms covering the first half of October proves to be of more than usual force it will indicate that I have not miscalculated the weather, and we may then confidently expect a very cold, severe and stormy winter, setting in quite early. Saturn will pass its equinox the last of October, and to that influence I attribute the great increase of storms since the middle of last May.

Science and Weather Notes.

Twenty-three hundred years ago Aristotle declared there is but one single universal force, and that declaration entitles him to be called the father of science. But the dark ages came and crushed that truth to earth to rise again in the last years of the nineteenth century.

When the clouds of the dark ages began to clear away a great mind declared a half truth in the nebular theory of creation, which, for more than a century, has been taken as the basis of astronomy, geology and meteorology. This nebular theory, like the Ptolemaic theory of astronomy, is requiring our astronomers, geologists and meteorologists constant inventions to make the nebular hypothesis and the consequent heat theory of forces hold together, and these invented theories are becoming so numerous that the nebular theory is tottering to its fall.

For the salvation of science it is just as necessary to return to the unity of force, as announced by Aristotle, as it was to Christianity that Paul should establish the unity of spiritual force in the truth of one God. The nebular theory stands to scientific truth in about the same relation that the theory of a million gods did to true religion in the days of Christ.

If we go back to the truth of one universal force we not only lift science from the mire, but we do for the scientific world that which the doctrine of one God did for the religious world.

Prof. Wm. H. Preece, London's leading electrician, declares that: "All physical phenomena, without a single exception, may be traced to the mere transformation of eectrical energy." That is a reassertion of the great Aristotlean truth, and is in harmony with my views as to the physical forces. There is but one physical force and that force is electricity, or matter in motion. Its origin is found in the condensations of the diffused matter of space.

As this ether of space condenses into the solid bodies, as the meteors, comets, asteroids, moons, planets, suns and the clusters of stars, it is, by these condensations, caused to converge toward these common centers in straight lines, and after moving through them and depositing its grosser materials, radiates to other bodies, gathering more matter in space.

This movement of that which has been called the ether of space constitutes all there is of electricity and of force, and is the basis of my meteorological theories.

Electricity is the universal force, is the cause of light, heat, magnetism, attraction, repulsion, gravitation, earthquakes, the high and low barometers, heat in the earth, volcanoes, and is the life principle of the vegetable and animal kingdoms.

It moves the atmosphere, lifts the moisture and is the force of the tornado.

Every heavenly body, from meteors to the suns, has grown from atoms by condensations.

Suns and planets are caused to revolve on their axes by the electrical force we see in the natural magnet, and planets and satellites revolve around their primaries because of the elements that surround and revolve with the latter.

The sun is not, and the earth never was, a hot body; neither light nor heat comes from the sun, but are effects of electrical radiations; the planets, satellites, and asteroids entering our solar system as comets and each will continue to grow by accumulations from the ether of space—electricity—till it becomes a sun and the center of a solar system.

The earth's diameter at the equator is greater than its poles because of vegetable and coral growths. Coal is not of vegetable origin. The moon is not a dead world.

All storms are whirlwinds and north of latitude 30 they move entirely around the earth—never die and they increase and decrease in force by reason of the position of the sun, moon and planets.

The high and low barometers constitute electric pairs, and the currents of electricity that rise in the low come down in the high, forming electric currents.

Cold waves, early fall and late spring frosts are caused by tropical hurricanes.

Early springs, late falls, cold and warm winters, droughs, rain belts, excessive heat, extreme cold, great storm periods and the location of storms, are governed by the position of the planets.

Each of these atmospheric propositions will require careful arguments and illustrations and besides giving weekly weather forecasts for all parts of the United States east of the Rocky Mountains I will, in my weekly letters, discuss the propositions stated above and endeavor to establish their truth.

Toledo Telegraphers Remember Lizzie Annandale—Carmen This Evening—Attractions Coming

The Lizzie Annandale Grand English Opera company appeared at Wheeler's last evening in Martha, and gave a very good presentation of the opera. Miss Annandale did not have an opportunity to do her best work as she was cast for Lady Henrietta, a role secondary to the leading one of Nancy, but more suitable for her voice. She made a good impression and will probably add to it this evening in Carmen. Miss Annandale looks and acts a good deal like Marie Stone of the old Boston Ideals. Miss Eva Cummings, who sang Nancy, captivated Toledoans. She is as clever a lady as has appeared here for some time. Her singing was magnificent, especially her rendition of the Last Rose of Summer.

These two talented ladies, with Wm. Broderick as Plunket and Martin Pache as Lionel, carried the work of the opera and carried it well. Their numbers were repeatedly encored. During the third act Miss Annandale received a handsome basket of roses bearing the inscription "To Miss Annandale from the Telegraphers of Toledo with kind remembrances of 1883." Miss Annandale gave a benefit for the telegraphers and they have never forgotten her.

The chorus is small but good. The only faults that can be found with last evening's performance is that at times the dramatic part of the presentation was ignored. The acting of the listless sort, stiff and amateurish as were the make ups of most the characters. However listening to the grand music one overlooked these little defects and then, too, they can be remedied with a little work.

This afternoon the Bohemian Girl will be sung and this evening Carmen. One change has been made in the cast of the latter by request. The famous tenor Michelena will sing Don Jose. He has been working hard of late and it was thought best at first to let him rest while in Toledo. The company deserves a large house this evening.

Next Week at the People's.

W. J. Fleming will produce his latest effort, Custer, on the People's theatre stage all next week. Mr. Fleming appears as Custer portraying the life of the martyr hero as civilan, cadet and soldier. The piece is replete with striking tableaux and some neat and startling phases of Indian warfare are introduced. The comedy element has not been forgotten and the piece and company are said to be strong throughout.

Aunt Bridget's Baby.

Geo. W. Monroe will bring a big company from the east, and Wednesday will put on a performance of his new comedy Bridget's Baby, with all the people that made the Metropolitan production such a success. It will be one of the leading comedy events of the season, and the opera house will not hold the people.

Herrmann at Wheeler's.

The wonderful Herrmann will give his magical performance at Wheeler's Monday and Tuesday evenings. He has several new illusions just brought out in France and England, and will produce something entirely new in the line of magic. Herrmann is always entertaining and is the best magician in the world today.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR CHILDREN

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

To-day will be the last day the Bee will be issued from its old quarters, which it has so completely outgrown in the past few years. Its new home is one of the finest in the city.

HELLO, WHAT'S THIS?

A Company of "Dress Reformers" Come Among Us.

We meet so many people, ladies as well as men, whose clothes are shabby and frayed, because they cannot afford to lay out in one sum the money for a whole new suit or a handsome wrap, and because shopkeepers demand their pay in advance, although themselves buying mostly on credit.

To right this apparent injustice, there has just come among us from one of our sister cities, a company of reputable merchants, known as The Hyman Co., who propose to sell ladies' cloaks, wraps and jackets and gentlemen's suits, overcoats, etc., on credit, to respectable parties, and take their pay in easy weekly instalments.

This gives the poor man and woman a chance to dress in proper style and pay as the money is earned. The company guarantees to sell at prices based upon the closest competition from cash houses, so that nothing further seems to be desired.

The people who are at the head of this enterprise are not strangers, but men of liberal means and liberal ideas, and we are glad to welcome them among us. Parties who are interested can learn further particulars by turning to the company's advertisement, which appears on the second page of this issue.

SURROUNDED BY FIRE.

Turtle Lake Village Will be Burned.

A Roaring Conflagration on All Sides—More Fatalities Reported.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 26.—A dispatch from Turtle Lake this morning says the village is entirely surrounded by the flames which are licking up everything.

Word has reached the village that the family of Mr. Nesse, a farmer living a short distance out of town, consisting of himself, his wife and several small children, were hemmed in by the flames, and they are no doubt burned to death, as no help could reach them.

The brusque and fussy impulse of these days of false impression would rate down all as worthless because one is unworthy. As if there were no motes in sunbeams! Or comets among stars! Or cataracts in peaceful rivers! Because one remedy professes to do what it never was adapted to do, are all remedies worthless? Because one doctor lets his patient die, are all humbugs? It requires a fine eye and a finer brain to discriminate—to draw the differential line.

"They say" that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription have cured thousands.

"They say" for a weak system there's nothing better than the "Discovery," and that the "Favorite Prescription" is the hope of debilitated, feeble women who need a restorative tonic and bracing nervine. And here's the proof—

Try one or both. If they don't help you, tell the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., and you get your money back again.

SENTENCED FOR CONTEMPT.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—Judge Wallace to-day in the superior court sentenced Richard Chute, a well-known politician, to pay a fine of $500 and five days in the county jail for contempt of court.

Chute was subpœnaed by the grand jury investigating certain scandals affecting members of the late California legislature. Chute disregarded the subpœna, asserting that the present grand jury is not a legally organized body.

Boils and Pimples and other affections arising from impure blood may appear at this season, when the blood is heated. Hood's Sarsaparilla removes the cause of these troubles by purifying, vitalizing and enriching the blood, and at the same time it gives strength to the whole system.

The Wabash has created some excitement by announcing that it will resume paying commissions to ticket agents. DESERVEDLY SUCCESSFUL.

Prominent among Toledo's most enterprising business men is the popular jeweler Mr. J. W. Fowers, at 516 Adams street.

It was the pleasure of a BEE to enter his place of business a few days ago, and in doing so could not help but notice the improvements on the way of elegant jewelry cases and newly tinted walls and ceilings. The improvements are in keeping with the general stock and manner of doing business of Mr. Flowers, who has in the last four years built up a very prosperous and substantial business, not only in fine watch and clock repairing, but in the sale of the best makes of watches and jewelry. Mr. Flowers makes a specialty of and deals largely in optical goods. It is the purpose of Mr. Flowers to add largely to his stock within the next few weeks, so that his many friends and patrons can feel that they need go no further for variety or quality to select from.

THE WEATHER IS HOT,

But John Dalber keeps right on taking orders for fall suits, because he has the finest stock of tailoring goods ever brought to Toledo, and John always manages to get perfect fits.

HARVEST SONG.

Laugh out, laugh out, ye orchard lands,
With all your ripened store;
Such bounteous measure nature yields;
What could heart ask for more?

With earth's broad lap a-brim with food,
The azure skies above,
The heavens whisper, "Earth is good;"
Earth answers, "Heaven is love."

The winds that wander from the west
O'er fields afar or near
Find plenty nowhere manifest
In richer stores than here.

The golden rick, the bursting bin,
Of rich and ripened grain
Bespeak the wealth which all may win
In industry's domain.

The corn fields set in grand array
Of solid rank and row
Are streams of wealth which set this way
And soon shall overflow.

Laugh out, laugh out, ye ripened fields,
With e'er increasing mirth;
The joy your bounteous measure yields
Hail bless the whole round earth.
—Harper's Bazar.

A LIFE LESSON.

There little girl, don't cry!
They have broken your doll, I know;
And your tea set blue
And your pantry house, too,
Are things of long ago;
But childish troubles will soon pass by;
There little girl, don't cry!

There little girl, don't cry!
They have broken your slate, I know;
And the gaud, wild ways
Of your school girl days
Are things of long ago;
But life and love will soon come by;
There little girl, don't cry!

There little girl, don't cry!
They have broken your heart, I know;
And the rainbow gleams
Of your youthful dreams
Are things of long ago;
But heaven holds all for which you sigh;
There little girl, don't cry!
—James Whitcomb Riley.

These are "moving days" with the BEE staff. The members of the Household will immediately, all and severally, extend their sympathies, we know. Many of them understand, from experience's sharp lessons, what it means to pick up the Lares and Penates of a home, and transfer these household gods, along with crockery, babies, furniture, and all the rest of the household goods, from one domicile to another. Moving a printing office is a still more laborious undertaking. Before another household edition is issued we shall all be settled in our handsome and commodious new quarters. As will be seen "E. T." has already had a glimpse at them, and she tells you of the change for the better Barbara will find on her return. When we are fairly "settled" we will tell you more about it, and give you all an invitation to "drop in and see us."

COULD WOMEN VOTE?

It was a curious view of "Woman in Public Life" which the listeners to Miss Belgarnie's lecture upon that subject in Toledo received. As noted in the BEE at the time, it is evident that while women in America may be more of a power in public affairs in some respects than are their sisters across the water, English women have a great deal more direct influence in politics than American women have. They are organized for this purpose, believing their efforts to effect may reform need their ballots to back them. They have two great political organizations, the conservative women the Primrose league, the liberal women the Woman's Liberal League association. In Yorkshire alone, Miss Belgarnie's home, the woman's liberal club has a membership of 1,700. They have also the right to vote in seven elections; for everything indeed except members of parliament.

Some of the laws which English women have helped to repeal were indeed unjust enough to cause the stones to cry out, if men's hearts were so hard that they were indifferent. For instance, the law which did not recognize a mother's right to her children in case the parents separated, no matter which of the two was in fault. This has been changed so that the mother is given the children when the father is morally unfit to have them. Again, until women had the law changed, a woman had no right to her own property. The extreme case was cited of a worthless husband who fled to Canada and left his wife to support herself by dressmaking. The dressmaker lost her arm in a railroad accident and the company was ready to pay some thousand pounds damages. The law said the woman's signature would not release the company from further suit, and the recreant husband was advertised for. Securing money he returned to England, received the company's check, cashed it and returned to Canada with the money, but without the disabled and deserted wife.

It must with sorrow be acknowledged that these and other unjust laws prevail in many states of this republic. Must women be enfranchised before such laws are repealed? "The political mud must be cleaned up with the broom of woman's intelligence," said Miss Belgarnie. We believe the majority of the women of America will prefer to leave this task to others, and will, unless they are better convinced than at present that no one else will do the necessary mud-sweeping. We believe that if they ever vote it will be because it is a solemn though most unorganical duty.

I wish every member of the Household could have heard Miss Belgarnie tell of the things, the disagreeable, popular things, that English women in politics do. Think of it! Through the November mud, fog, dirt and rain, they make what they call the house-to-house canvass. An election for parliament is on, and these women go, through back streets and lanes, to the homes of men they do not know; go in and sit down in foul-smelling rooms, and talk to a pipe-smoking, ale-drinking man, who is too ignorant and besotted to go to the polls, and coax him for hours, if necessary, to go and record his vote for their candidate.

Would you like to do this thing, sisters of the Household? And to such things as these we must come if we get the ballot. Not just the same, of course, for we do not have the house-to-house canvass here. But we have something worse. We have the ward caucuses. I am told that these primaries, as they are called, is the place where everything is settled. The convention next day is only a ratification meeting, as it were; and the day of election is a second ratification—for one party, of course; the other is de-ratified. But the real political work, which we unsophisticated women think is done with the ballot, is really done at the caucus.

If we are going to be enfranchised, so as to be a "power in politics," we shall have to do the disagreeable things the English women so bravely undertake—and worse. Are we really ready to undertake it?

HOW TO WASH LACE CURTAINS.

Those who live in small houses, especially if the curtains are old, do not wish to send them to the laundry and have not room to stretch them on carpets. Select a bright, clear day with little breeze stirring; put curtains in a tub; pour over them hot suds in which borax and good soap have been dissolved; stir them with the clothes stick until the water becomes colored; take out carefully and stir in a second suds; wring gently and place again in clean suds; rub the edges and other parts which need it with the hands; then boil until they look clean in water containing borax and soap; rinse through several clear waters, one curtain at a time; blue slightly the last water, in which stir well thin boiled starch, of best quality; pin over sheets on the clothes line out doors, or spread on lawn grass where you can watch them until nearly dry; heat the smoothing iron and iron lightly on wrong side. They are then ready to hang. I knew a person who washed hers so, one morning, and by 3 o'clock in the afternoon the curtains were replaced and she was entertaining callers.

What a thanksgiving we will have when the priestess of this household returns safely, and beholds her new sanctum, with its appropriate furnishing and glorious window with a door opening upon a balcony. She will spread the scene before us some day as only a poet can. From that height she can inhale pure air, and the sunsets will be visible. The foliage which is nearest the sky is greenest and brightest. It has been my privilege once a year, sometimes three or four times a year, after the day's paper was out (and the words "positively no admittance" were turned by the open door out of sight), to note the improvements from time to time, the added comforts which were given the working editors, until now the BEE has the most ornamental and comfortable quarters in the city.

A big BEE said: "Now Barbara can have plants." I well remember seeing her doleful look when Jack Frost and the mice had played havoc with her plants, leaving only the stalks and the dirt scratched out where the mice had gnawed the roots, but she could not keep these things, comforting and consoling others, making the Household a cheerful place, looking onward and upward, over the rough places.

OVER OUR TEACUPS.

We offer a clipping from a western exchange, expressing a sentiment in which we heartily concur, as follows:

"The board of lady managers of the world's fair should petition to have their official designation changed," says the Lafayette (Ind.) Journal. "'Lady' managers sounds finicky and affected, and does not smack of business. It makes one think of the average sewing society, where female gossips meet to train their needle guns on the character of their neighbors. Let it be plain board of women managers. That old-fashioned word is good enough. Besides, it means something, which is more than can be said of the other term. The word 'lady' is so overworked these days that it has gone into disrepute. There is something suggestive of worth, of tenderness, of strength combined with gentleness, of dignity and motherliness in the name of woman. All the tributes to the sex in the great masters of literature are addresses to woman, not 'lady.' Imagine Scott writing:

'O sad [in the hour o' ease,
Uncertain, coy, and hard to please,
And variable as the shade
By the light, quivering aspen made—
When pain and anguish wring the brow,
A ministering angel thou.

"It is clear that the substitution of 'lady' for woman in the above would ruin the dignity of the lines.

"So Otway:

'O woman, lovely woman, nature formed thee
To temper man.

"Thus Shakespeare:

'Tis beauty that doth oft make women proud;
Tis virtue that doth make them most admired;
Tis modesty that makes them seem divine.

"Pope likewise:

'But grant in public men sometimes are shown,
A woman's seen in private life alone:
Our bolder talents in full life displayed,
Our virtues open fairest in the shade.

"Not a word about 'lady' in the whole catalogue. The examples might be multiplied indefinitely.

"Those of the sex who have made themselves eminent are alluded to as women, not ladies. We speak of 'Shakespeare's women.' We allude to George Eliot as a great woman, Sarah Siddons as a noble woman, Joan of Arc as a heroic woman. But especially in business affairs does the term 'lady' seem namby-pambyish and suggestive of frills and furbelows. Observe that it is the 'Woman's Relief Corps,' the 'Woman's Foreign Mission Society,' the 'Woman's Christian Temperance Union.' These and other similar organizations never emasculate their titles with boarding school nomenclature. Impressed with these views, we therefore, move you, Mrs. President Palmer, to strike out the word 'lady' and substitute therefore the good old Saxon word, 'woman.'"

The Journal might have added the following all-embracing verse:

They talk about a woman's sphere
As though it had a limit;
There's not a place in earth or heaven,
There's not a task to mankind given,
There's not a blessing or a woe,
There's not a whispered "yes" or "no,"
There's not a life, or death, or birth,
That has a feather's weight of worth
Without a woman in it.

The widespread recognition of the importance of the woman's board, was evinced by the national, and even international nature of the communication received by it while in session. One was from the Federation of Labor concerning the classification of the proportion of women and children's work. Another was from the Illinois woman's alliance, and dealt with the employment of child labor, asking the co-operation of the board of lady managers in suppressing the same. A third was from Lady Aberdeen, announcing the final and definite arrangement for an exhibit of Irish women's work at the world's Columbian exposition. It may be mentioned that Lady Aberdeen is now in America, looking after the interests of women, and will visit Chicago during the autumn.

Minor Mention.

The New York Herald has a fashion cut daily, a hint from Paris. It would be a good idea for the artist to take a walk some day to a gallery where he could look at a copy of Venus' statue, or that of some other goddess or woman who was not a caricature on good form. His sketch invariably shows a pinched-up figure that would measure about twelve inches around the waist, but has a three-foot bust measure.

For ordinary use Queen Victoria employs four gray horses driven by servants in dark livery.

Miss Enid Yandell, of Louisville, is at work in the modeling department of the world's fair, making the models for the eight caryatides for the women's building.

The German empress has formed a league for the preservation of good habits among the Prussian ladies. The members bind themselves to discourage luxury, to wear simple dresses and to practice economy in the household.

Olive Schreiner, the South African novelist, is described as of petite figure, with dark hair and eyes. She is a brilliant talker, and feels a vivid interest in public affairs. She often attends the debates of the Cape Town parliament.

Mrs. Walker, the wife of John Brisben Walker, editor of the Cosmopolitan, is the daughter of General Strather, a writer who obtained a wide celebrity as "Porte Crayon," and the Walker household contains seven boys and a girl.

Mrs. Kinney, widow of the late Major Kinney, of Hartford, is president of the Connecticut Indian association. She intends shortly to visit several Indian reservations in the West, among them that of the Omahas, where her mother-in-law will be the government physician, Dr. Susan La Flesche.

Miss Hildegarde Hawthorne, granddaughter of Nathaniel, and daughter of Julian Hawthorne, is credited with a literary future. A very remarkable story from her pen is published in the October number of Harper's Magazine. It is but one page long, and is entitled "A Legend of Sonora."

Chief Justice Fuller presided at an organization meeting of the Illinois branch of the Mary Washington association in Chicago. The National President, Mrs. Waite, widow of the late chief justice, was in attendance. It is proposed to raise the sum of $25,000 for the memorial to Mary Washington.

SCRAP BASKET.

I own that I am disposed to say grace upon other occasions besides my dinner. Why have we no form of grace for books—those spiritual repasts—a grace before Milton; a grace before Shakespeare; a devotional exercise proper to be said before reading the False Queen!—Charles Lamb.

"Sweet is the hour that brings us home,
Where all will spring to meet us;
When hands are striving, as we come,
To be the first to greet us.
When the world hath spent its frowns and wrath,
And care been sorely pressing,
'Tis sweet to turn from our roving path,
And find a fireside blessing.
Oh! joyfully dear is the homeward track,
If we are but sure of a welcome back."

Discretion or a sense of propriety—by either term is the virtue known—is like a perfume. It cannot be touched, seen, weighed or described, but it exists, and makes its presence and its absence known, and is as essential to every womanly woman, no matter what her age, intellectual accomplishments, beauty or social position, as is its perfume to perfection of the rose.

Life is a leaf of paper white
Whereon each one of us may write
His word or two—then comes the night.
—J. R. Lowell.

The following rules for the government of children, which were first presented in one of Jacob Abbott's books, are said to have been of great service to parents and teachers:

When you consent, consent cordially.
When you refuse, refuse finally.
When you punish, punish good naturedly.
Commend often. Never scold.

There's a pretty maiden over the way
Who smiles when she sees me here at my work,
And she keeps me hard at it from morning till night.

For with such a monitor how can I shirk.
She has golden hair and pearly teeth:
Her eyes are the shade of heaven's own blue—
Don't think I'm in danger, for I confess
I am most fifty; she isn't two.

If only people could be guided into simple habits and ideas as regards so-called comforts and ornaments we should not only be more likely to develop nobler art, but also to secure less of toil and trouble in the care and keeping of the useless gimcrackery with which the homes of all, rich, well-to-do and poor at present abound.

Let us thank God for books. When I consider what some books have done for the world, and what they are doing, how they keep up our hope, awaken new courage and faith, soothe pain, give an ideal life to those whose homes are hard and cold, bind together distant ages and foreign lands, create new worlds of beauty, bring down truths from heaven—I give eternal blessings for this gift.—James Freeman Clarke.

KITCHEN CONFERENCE.

Still the fruit season keeps us busy with the wealth of good things this year has brought us, and the Household offers some more tried recipes, to help its members out.

Preserves.

Grapes—Squeeze the pulp of the grapes out of the skins. Cook the pulp (a few minutes) until you can press it all through a sieve. Reject the seeds. Add a little water to the skins and cook until they are quite tender. Then put the skins and pulp together; measure, and to each pint add a pound of sugar and boil 15 minutes.

Apples—Peel and weigh 10 pounds of apples; stew them in a pan with one pint of water; when they are quite tender put in eight pounds of pounded sugar, two ounces of ground ginger the juice and grated rind of four or five lemons; let it boil half an hour or more, stirring it all the time, then put it in small jars or molds.

Cucumbers—Split the cucumbers and extract the seeds. Let them remain for three days in salt and water. Put them now into cold water, with a small quantity of alum, and boil them till tender. Drain them and allow them to lie in a thin sirup for two days; then take them out, boiling the sirup again and pour it over the cucumbers, repeating this operation twice more. Now boil some clarified sugar until when a spoonful of it is taken up and blown through small sparks of sugar will fly from it; put the cucumbers into this and let them simmer five minutes. Leave them until the next day, when the whole must be boiled up again, and afterward put by for use.

Quinces.—Choose fine yellow quinces. Pare, quarter and core them, saving both skins and cores. Put the quinces over the fire with just enough water to cover them, and simmer until they are soft, but not until they begin to break. Take them out carefully and spread them upon broad dishes to cool. Add the parings, seed and cores to the water in which the quinces were boiled, and stew, closely covered, for an hour. Strain through a jelly-bag, and to every pint of this liquor allow a pound of sugar. Boil up and skim it, put in the fruit and boil 15 minutes. Take all from the fire and pour into a large deep pan. Cover closely and let it stand 24 hours. Drain off the syrup and let it come to a boil, put in the quinces carefully and boil another quarter of an hour. Take them up as dry as possible, and again spread out upon dishes, setting these in the hottest sunshine you can find. Boil the syrup until it begins to jelly; fill the jars two-thirds full and cover with the syrup. The preserves should be of a fine red. Cover with trandied tissue paper.

Pickles.

Cauliflower—Two cauliflowers cut up, one pint of small onions, three medium-sized red peppers; dissolve one-half pint of salt in water enough to cover the vegetables, and let these stand over night. In the morning drain them. Heat two quarts of vinegar with four tablespoonfuls of mustard until it boils; add the vegetables and boil for 15 or 20 minutes, or until a fork can be thrust through the cauliflower.

Sweet Tomatoes—One peck of green tomatoes and six large onions, sliced. Sprinkle with one cupful of salt and let them stand over night. In the morning drain. Add to the tomatoes two quarts of water and one quart of vinegar. Boil 15 minutes; then drain again, and throw this vinegar and water away. Add to the pickle two pounds of sugar, two quarts of vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of cloves, two of allspice, two of ginger, two of mustard, two of cinnamon and one teaspoonful of cayenne, and boil all together for 15 minutes.

Oil Pickle—One hundred small cucumbers sliced, as for the table, but unpeeled, to be covered with salt water for three or four hours; three pints peeled onions, one cup celery seed, one cup mustard seed, one-half cup pepper kernels, two cups olive oil. Drain the cucumbers, then mix all the ingredients; put in the jar and cover with good vinegar.

Marmalade.

Quince—Pare, core and slice the quinces. Stew the skins and cores by themselves, with just water to cover them, and, when soft, strain through a jelly bag. Let this liquid cool, and when cool put the quinces into it. Boil, stir and mash as the fruit becomes soft, and when reduced to a paste stir in a small three-quarters of a pound of sugar to a pound of fruit, and cook until it jellies, then seal up.

Apple—Wipe the apples well; do not pare but core and slice them; have ready a sirup, made of three pounds of sugar to a pint of water and a half teaspoonful of ginger; boil quickly five minutes; add the sliced apples to the sirup and boil quickly for half an hour; stir often and do not allow it to scorch; after cooking an hour the mixtures should be rather stiff and jellified; allow three pounds of sugar to six apples.

Seasoning.

It is difficult to overestimate the value of fresh eggs as an article of diet, even at the highest prices.

A tablespoonful of salt to every two quarts of water is the proper proportion for boiling green vegetables.

Pudding, if boiled, must be put into plenty of boiling water; if baked, in a sharp, but not scorching oven.

The Dutch and French always blend their coffees, which accounts for the better quality and whiteness of their fish.

Sultana raisins do not require time for stoning, but quite as much time is expended in steaming and washing.

Gum arabic dissolved in water and spread upon paper will, when tied over jelly tumblers, render them air tight.

Look well to your glass preserving bottles. See that the screws work right and that the rubbers are clean and flexible.

THE FOURTH DAY.

a new country. Mr. Hill entered the ministry in 1855, when but 24 years of age, and has been in the itinerant ministry ever since. He has been in the Central Ohio conference 22 years and has traveled over nearly every foot of ground in northern Ohio. He has preached in nearly every portion of the territory in the conference, and has experienced all the phases of a pioneer preacher's career.

He has two sons, one of them, William E., a member of the Central Ohio, the other, John W., Jr., a member of the Colorado conference, stationed at Ogden, Utah.

B. B. POWELL.

February 14, 1820, is the date of this pastor's birth in Delaware township, O., where he remained until 12 years old, his parents then removing to Marion county. At 16 he began to "hustle for himself," to use an odd expression, working on a farm, what education he secured being in the common schools. When 28 years old Mr. Powell was converted in the town of Waldo, and united with the Methodist Episcopal church. In 1848 was admitted into the then Delaware conference, which four years after was changed to the Central Ohio. His first circuit was the Marseilles one, then the following churches in turn: Gilboa, Shannon, Ottawa, Elida, Lafayette, Westfield, Delhi, Marysville circuit, Pioneer, Montpeller, Sylvania, Bradford, Prospect, Radnor, and Spencer. At the conclusion of one year at the latter place, he superannuated and went to Kansas, preaching six months of the time at Florence. Returning to Ohio, he was appointed to Waterville circuit, then to West Mansfield circuit, and last year to his present station, Rushsylvania.

M. M. MARKWITH,

Pastor of the church at La Rue, was born near Greenville, O., August 29, 1839, and was never out of the state until he enlisted in the Union army in 1862. He taught school before he attained his sixteenth year, and engaged in this kind of work for nearly nine years before and after the war. Mr. Markwith enlisted as a private in Company F, Ninety-fourth O. V. I., August 11, 1862, at Greenville, and was mustered in August 14, at Camp Piqua. The regiment did good service, participating in many important battles, going with Sherman on his march to the sea, and being finally discharged at Camp Chase, Columbus, June 14, 1865. Mr. Markwith was made sergeant-major of the regiment in 1863, and was again promoted to first lieutenant. He was converted in the M. E. church at Versailles, O., January 14, 1869, under the pastorate of Rev. Charles Farnsworth, and united with the church on probation a few days later. He was licensed as an exhorter in January, 1870, as a local preacher in April, 1871, and received on trial in the Central Ohio conference at Kenton, in 1871. Mr. Markwith is thus closing his twentieth year in the traveling connection, and has served the following charges: Wabash circuit, Whitehouse circuit, Arcanum circuit, Delhi circuit, Zanesville circuit, Fort Jefferson circuit, Versailles circuit, Shane's crossing circuit, West Liberty station, and La Rue circuit.

J. M. KELLY

Was born in Logan county, Ohio, in October, 1824, and besides being a preacher has taken part in the handling of county funds. Mr. Kelly received his education in the common schools, and later taught school and farmed. October, 1855, Mr. K. was elected as treasurer of Logan county, and held the office until September, 1860. He then went into business in Bellefontaine until April, 1868, when he was appointed to fill a vacancy in the office of county treasurer, to which he was re-elected for another term, retiring in September, 1871.

Mr. Kelly was recommended to the Central Ohio conference by the quarterly conference of the M. E. church of Bellefontaine, but did not present himself for examination. He was recommended again to the conference which was held at Marysville, in September, 1872, and was admitted. His license to preach was granted in 1866. The appointments served are as follows: Kalida, Lafayette, Forest, Arcadia, Lakeside, New Dover, Belle Center, Hardin, Anna, and Bradford.

ANDREW J. FRISBEE,

Now on the superannuated list, was born in Vermont, December 2, 1829, and came to Ohio, settling in Licking county when a boy. He was converted at the age of 16, and united with the M. E. church. After his call to the ministry, he attended school at the Ohio Wesleyan university for two years and then traveled two years as a supply under the direction of the presiding elder. Mr. Frisbee joined the Central Ohio conference about the year it was separatted from the North Ohio, in which he traveled for 26 years, receiving into the church over three thousand souls on the following charges: Zanesfield, Fort Recovery, Mt. Victory, St. John's, Shanesville and Celina, St. Mary's, Van Wert circuit, Richwood, Welshire, Bluffton, Spencerville, Marysville, Gibsonburg, Van Lue Junction, and Hardin. Mr. Frisbee now resides at Ada.

HENRY WARNER,

Now a member of the Central Ohio conference, was born in Brookfield, Connecticut, March 11, 1811, and came to Wood county, Ohio, in 1835. He was converted February 4, 1831, and on the 20th united with the Methodist church. He was licensed to exhort in 1837 and to preach in 1838, and was sent by the Michigan conference (which embraced that state and northern Ohio) to Pusley mission in Williams and adjoining counties, from 1839 to 1842. Mr. Warner served successively charges at Fort Recovery, Van Wert, Findlay, Congress, in Wayne county; Copley, in Summit county; Dalton, Bucyrus, Risdom and Rome, which were soon merged into Fostoria, Adrian, Melmore, Port Clinton, Bryan, Sylvania and Waterville. He remained on a farm for 14 years, and next took up his residence in Perrysburg, where he is now comfortably situated, and makes the statement that there is "no more profitable life than to get and do good."

J. D. SIMMS

Was born near Huntsville, Logan county, Ohio, on December 21, 1848. In boyhood he received what education he could at the common schools in the country, and for a time attended the union schools in Springfield, Ohio. In his 18th year he entered school in the preprratory department of the Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware.

In 1874 he graduated in the classical course of the same university, and received the degree of Master of Arts in cursu in 1887.

For the most part, while in school he was self-supporting, earning money by labor on a farm, or by teaching, to pay his own way through college.

In the fall of 1874 he entered the Central Ohio conference, of which he has been a member ever since, and has served as pastor on the following charges: Freeport, Bowling Green, Grand Rapids, Elmore, Hicksville, Prospect, Wauseon, and Forest, several of which he has served for the full term. He has just now closed his second year at Saint Mary's, and comes to conference this year again with a record of good work, having had a good revival and 53 accessions to the church; the benevolences increased over any former year on the charge, and a new parsonage costing $1,800 added to the church property.

J. C. CLEMONS

Was born in Green county, this state, near Jamestown, January 27, 1827, and grew up to manhood in the community in which he was born. He is of old Methodist stock, his father, and both of his grandfathers, and six uncles, being Methodist preachers. He never received a collegiate course, but was studious from a boy, and received the benefit of the best advanced select and common schools of his day, with other advantages not common to boys of that period. He has been about 30 years in the active ministry.

Being a radical anti-slavery man, he began his ministry in the American Wesleyan Methodist church. After the destruction of slavery as the result of the late war, he joined the Central Ohio Annual Conference of the M. E. church, and has continued active in the pastorate in the conference for 24 years. He is a pleasant and forcible writer, contributing much to temperance literature and moral questions of interest through the church periodicals. He has never sought to push himself into notice, but has aimed to be loyal to the powers that be, and to do the work assigned him.

Mr. Clemons has served the following charges: Union Circuit, Celina, Columbus Grove, Mendon, Marseilles, Prospect, Napoleon, Elmore, and is now closing his third year at Antwerp. He is yet vigorous and cheerful, clear, cogent and logical as a speaker, and successful in his work, and feels an unabating interest in the success of Methodism.

H. A. BROWN.

H. A. Brown was born in Windsor, Conn., July 10, 1826, and moved with his parents when two and a half years old to Vermont. At 10 removal was made to Ohio. Mr. Brown attended Baldwin Institute in 1847, but settled with his aged and infirm parents in Paulding county in 1848. He then taught school for several years, was school examiner for eight years, and then county surveyor for six years. In 1853 he was married to Miss Sarah M. Slade. Mr. Brown in 1842 was converted and united with the M. E. church at a camp-meeting near what is now Columbus Grove, and in 1849 received license to exhort, and as a local preacher in 1852, being ordained deacon by Bishop Baker at Toledo in 1857, and elder by Bishop Clark at Galion in 1865, serving as a supply at Paulding mission that year. Mr. Brown was received on trial in the Central Ohio conference at Fostoria in 1867, and by appointment served the following charges: Ayersville, Independence, Whitehouse, Elmore, Napoleon, Florida, Delhi, Stryker, Edgerton, Fayette, West Unity and Antwerp.

In consequence of failing health, and that of his wife, Mr. Brown retired from the effective list in 1884, and settled on a small but beautiful rural home at Fountaindale, near Hicksville, Defiance county, but is still doing what he can in response to numerous and pressing calls to attend funerals, preach on special occasions, deliver addresses, and otherwise end his days in good works.

J. W. HOLLAND.

J. W. Holland was born in Corning, New York, April 29, 1853, but was reared and educated in Ohio. Mr. Holland graduated at the Ohio Wesleyan university in 1882, receiving the degree of B. A., and that of M. A. in 1885. He entered the Central Ohio conference in 1883, and was stationed at Lima for two years. His next appointment was at Spencerville, where he remained for three years, and was then sent to Delphos, and has just closed three years of active work at this thriving little city.

MARTIN PERKEY

Is another of the veterans who has retired from active service. He was born January 17, 1819, in Westmoreland county, Penn., and came with his parents to Ohio in 1821. He was educated in one of the log school houses of Seneca county, and was received into the North Ohio conference in 1854, then filling pastorates of Evansport, Delta, Bowling Green, Edgerton, Napoleon, Sylvania, Brunersburg, Mt. Blanchard and Versailles.

In 1861 Mr. Perkey was appointed chaplain of the Sixty-eighth O. V. I., but failing in health resigned in the fall of 1862. He went on the superannuate list in 1866. For some time he was engaged in mercantile business in Pioneer, and then put in nine years of service in the Williams county probate court office. Mr. Perkey is now living in Defiance awaiting his call from the church militant to the church triumphant.

JASON YOUNG

Was born in Salem township, Shelby county, Ohio, June 12, 1836. His parents were Adam and Sally Young. He attended day school in all perhaps a year and a half, and taught school three winter and one summer. He is self-made and of some literary ability. He was converted and joined the church early in April, 1853. He was appointed class leader soon after, and was licensed an exhorter May 25, 1855, a local preacher in 1857, and admitted into the traveling connection September, 1858. He has filled the following charges: Arcannum, two terms, one year each; Marseilles, Versailles, two terms of one year each; Zanesfield, Coldwater mission, Shanesville, Delphos, Ottawa, West Van Wert, Kenton circuit, two terms, in all five years, and is now on Fostoria circuit, the banner circuit of the conference.

Mr. Young was commissioned captain by Gov. Todd August 7, 1862, and raised his company in a few days and was a part of the original One Hundred and Tenth regiment, O. V. I., commanded by Col. J. Warren Reifer. Because of failing health he resigned December 18, 1862, yet he did what he could in every possible way to maintain the cause of the union.

Mr. Young takes rank among the strongest of the conference in the pulpit and on theology. He married Miss Virginia Reed at Versailles, Ohio, August 28, 1862 and has two daughters and one son. He has hosts of warm friends in all the charges he has served, and as few enemies, perhaps, as any other preacher who has the courage to oppose sin in every shape. He likes to devote his vacation after conference in Northern Michigan in the woods, where many a deer has fallen from his well directed aim.

JOHN R. COLGAN

Was born near Urbana, Champaign county, Ohio, October 27, 1830. He was the first child of a family of nine, Rev. S. J. Colgan, now a member of the Central Ohio Conference, being the youngest His parents, Daniel and Christian, were natives of the state of Kentucky. On September 10, 1833, the family settled on the west bank of Tiffin river, two miles south of the place of the present village of Stryker, in Williams county, O.

In their log house that fall, the first Methodist society within the present limits of Williams county was organized by Rev. James B. Lake, and that house remained the preaching place for six or seven years. Then came the log school house with its puncheon floor, slab benches, huge fire-place and stick chimney. To this the meetings were taken.

John's mother had taught him at home to spell and read a little. He bought his first reading book, "The English Reader," with a coon skin which his father gave him. With a couple of dozen of eggs he bought a dozen goose-quills which he traded to Alvah United, an older boy, for a second-hand arithmetic, from which he learned to "cypher." Later on he taught school for several years, and in 1852 entered the Ohio Wesleyan University, but poor health and lack of means prevented him from continuing his studies in college.

He studied at home, taught school, and worked on the farm till 1857, when he entered the Central Ohio Conference at Toledo, since which he has not lost a year from the active work, nor taken a vacation of two Sundays in succession, nor missed an annual conference.

He has filled the following charges: Sylvania, Woodville, West Unity, Marseilles, Brunersburg, Stryker, Napoleon, Delta, Wauseon, Anna, Ansonia, Arcannum, (now in Cincinnati conference,) Grand Rapids, Edgerton, West Unity, and Pioneer. He has filled the following charge twice: Sylvania, West Unity and Pioneer. Among other places belonging to his charges at different times have been, East Toledo, West Toledo, Monroe street, at Toledo, Metamora, Swanton, Pemberville, Freeport, Elmor, Fayette, Liberty Center, Archbold, Edon, Florida, Grelton, Harding, LaRue, Genoa, and Millbury, and New Madison, (now Cincinnati conference.)

Mr. Colgan has kept a record of his work, which shows that he has preached nearly five thousand sermons, besides conducting the religious services, and usually preaching at nearly six hundred funerals. Up to August 1st, he had officiated at 281 marriages for which he had received $1,215.

DANIEL D. MATHER

Was born at Milford Center, Union county, Ohio, April 21, 1822, and received his early education in the common schools and later in a High school in Marysville, "same county, studying the languages Latin, Greek and Hebrew with private teachers during the first ten years of his ministry, receiving the degree of Master of Arts from the Ohio Wesleyan university in 1866.

Dr. Mather was admitted into the Ohio Annual conference in 1842, receiving the following appointments: Coolville, Gallipolis, Little Kanawha, Barlow, Pomeroy, Harman, Putnam, Lancaster district, Chillicothe district, Wesley Chapel and Tower Street, Columbus, and the Zanesville district in 1864.

In 1866 he was transferred by request to the Central Ohio conference, and appointed to St. Paul's church, Toledo, then First M. E. church in Elmira, N. Y., East Genesee conference. In 1867 he went to Williams Street, Delaware; 1871-5 on the Delaware district, and then to DeGraff, Fostoria, Kenton, Fremont and Richwood. After 44 years of effective work he was placed on the superanuary roll, and in 1888 superanuated.

In 1868 Dr. Mather was a delegate to the general conference held in Buffalo, elected by the Ohio conference with J. M. Grimble, Zachariah Connell, J. M. Jameson and F. Merrick as co-delegates. He is now only able to preach occasionally, closing the forty-seventh year of itineracy. While in feeble health, he greatly enjoys the services of the church, the society of his brethren of the conferences, the able faculty of the Delaware university, and all Christian ministers and people, and is hopefully waiting a transfer to the church triumphant.

WM. C. LITTELL

Was born in Newark, N. J. August 15, 1825. In 1837 moved with his parents to Delaware, Ohio. In 1846 he was happily converted and united with the Williams Street M. E. church, and in 1856 he graduated at the Ohio university in the Scientific course, etc. He then entered into partnership with his father in the grocery and provision business. In 1866 he was ordained a local deacon and entered into the service of the American Bible society as a county agent, traveling in Licking, Delaware, Franklin, Fairfield and Piqua counties until 1869, when he was received into the Central Ohio conference and has filled the following appointments: Willshire, St. Mary's, Williams Center, Zanesfield, Toledo Bethel, Lima circuit, St. John's, Newton, Port Jefferson, Ansonia, Hardin, Kenton circuit, and Agosta. In these different charges more than a thousand souls have been converted and united with the church under his labors.

SCROFULOUS SORES

Lady Badly Afflicted Three Years. Tries Many Doctors Here and in England Without Benefit. Cured by Cuticura.

My wife having suffered from scrofula sores on the back for three years, and at times she could not lie down at night, and she tried all the doctors I could get, and also went to England to try and be cured there, and all of them failed, and told her they could do nothing for her; and having tried all kinds of remedies I at last tried one box of your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and to-day she is as well as she ever was in her life, and her back is as clear as any person living, and I for one can recommend CUTICURA REMEDIES as the only one I could find to effect a cure. G. W. JONES, Constable, 23 Sayles Street, Cleveland, O.

INHERITED SCROFULA

My nose was of a most pronounced crimson hue, the result of inherited scrofula. I suffered unteilable mortification daily, and tried enough remedies to stock a drug store without deriving the slightest benefit. I tried the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the most flattering results followed their use. I am all right now and I cannot find encomiums enough to bestow upon what I know to be the greatest and grandest gifts given by science to man. Please accept the most sincere and grateful thanks of one who has suffered. C. STEVENS O'MAHONEY, No 300 E. 60th St., New York, N. Y.
